30 DEGREES BELOW ZERO

Climax of Cold Throughout West Shown at Miles City, Mont.

CALIFORNIA IN CLASP OF CHILL

Coldest Weather in Forty Years Heavy Blow to Fruit Crop.

Washington, Jan. 7.—Thirty degrees below zero at Miles City, Mont., this morning, formed the climax of the cold throughout the west, extending southeastward to the gulf states.

The northeastern part of the country has temporary protection by the development of an area of high pressure over the Atlantic near the coast, but this territory, according to the weather sharps, gradually will feel the cold before the week is over. Southern California is experiencing the coldest weather in forty years. The temperature at San Diego was 28 early today, a record breaker for that point. At Pueblo, Col., it was 22 degrees below this morning; at Denver 18 below; Salt Lake City 2 below; Cheyenne 24 below; Minnedosa, Manitoba, 36 below; El Paso, Texas, 6 above; Amarillo, Texas, 2 below and the freezing temperatures extend through Texas to the Mexican border and eastward to Louisiana.

At Omaha it was zero, at St. Louis 22 above; Fort Worth, 14; San Antonio, 20; Kansas City, 6; Wichita, 2; Chicago, 28; Nashville, 56; Memphis, 34; Atlanta, 58 and New Orleans, 68.

DAMAGE WILL BE HEAVY.

Chill in Southern California Hits the Fruit Crop.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 7.—Temperature from 4 to 6 degrees lower than Sunday night were recorded last night, blasting the hopes or orange and lemon growers. It was said today that citrus fruit losses would be extremely heavy. Estimates of damage ran from ten to thirty million dollars. Railroad freight losses, figured in terms of shipment, were approximately, in the statement of the shippers, that the 1913 crop of oranges and lemons would be from ten to twenty thousand car loads short.

Last year's crop netted growers $35,000,000. Eleven millions went to the railroads in freight and refrigerator charges. At the beginning of the season this year's crop value was estimated at $50,000,000. Actual losses to both growers and railroads, however, will be dependent to a certain extent upon the attitude of the government toward the shipment of slightly damaged fruit.

Nearly one hundred car loads of oil, distillate and other fuels were used in the smudging operations last night.

WATER FAMINE HOLDS.

Freezing Streams Cut Off Supply at Salt Lake City.

Salt Lake City, Utah, Jan. 7.—Today dawned colder than yesterday and although it grew warmer toward noon there seemed no immediate relief from the water famine resulting from freezing streams. Schools, big business and mercantile houses and even the general offices of railroads are closed today because the lack or water precludes the heating of the buildings. Switch engines on the Oregon Short line are compelled to run to Farmington, sixteen miles away, to obtain water for their boilers.

The mercury reached its lowest mark for years at 7 a. m. when it fell to 2.3 below zero. In some parts of the city a little water has been obtained, following the blasting of ice in the streams that supply the mains.

SUSPECT IS JOHN EDWARDS.

Negro Held in Connection With Logue Murder at Chicago.

Chicago, Jan. 7.—John Edwards is the name of the negro who is being held by the police in connection with the Joseph H. Logue murder mystery.

Edwards was arrested several days ago but his name was withheld until today. He is said to have admitted to the police being in the building where Logue was killed shortly before the murder.

MOVE TO BUY OLD CAPITOL

Historic Structure at Corydon May Become State Museum.

LIVELY RACE FOR LEGISLATIVE JOBS

Candidates Pursue State Solons as They Reach Indianapolis.

Indianapolis, Jan. 7.—The state of Indiana is to be asked to purchase the old state capitol building at Corydon. A bill asking for an appropriation for the purpose will be introduced by Representative G. R. Bererly of Harrison county.

Senator Stotsenburg of Floyd and Harrison counties has been asked to bring the bill before the senate. The intention is for the historic structure erected before Indiana was a state, to be used as a museum. At the present time it is owned by Harrison county and is used as a court house.

Will Caucus Tonight.

Democratic senators of the general assembly will hold a caucus this evening in the senate chamber to elect a president pro tempore, a caucus chairman, secretary of the senate, assistant secretary and chief door keeper.

Lieut. Governor Frank J. Hall will preside over the meeting. It is said that the position of president pro tempore rests between eSnator George W. Curtis of Mount Vernon, and Senator Warren N. Hauck, of Lawrenceburg. There is little activity manifested by the senators mentioned for this place.

Revision of the Indiana drift laws is sought by Representative Earl K. Friend, of Watson, in a bill which he hopes the general assembly will pass. He is advocating the increase of the salvage rate on drifting cross-ties from 8 to 15 cents, and of timber logs from 15 cents to one dollar. The value of drifting boats is computed on a basis of $2 per ton for all cargo contained in place of a flat rate of $50 per boat under the existing statute.

Amend Accounting Law.

Representative Friend will also ask an amendment to the public accounting law so as to take the appointment of accountants to examine the county records out of the state board of accounts and to place it in the power of the boards of county commissioners.

CROSS QUIZ FOR JUDGE ARCHBALD

Accused Jurist Denies Corrupt Acts or Wrongful Purposes.

TESTIMONY NEAR END

Washington, Jan. 7.—Managers for the house of representatives today were ready for cross-examination of Judge Robert W. Archbald, of the commerce court, when the jurist took the stand again today before the senate sitting as a court of impeachment where he is answering charges of misconduct in office and corrupt use of his judicial influence to attain private ends.

Judge Archbald's testimony yesterday was limited to direct questioning by his own attorneys. This took the form of a narrative that ran through the thirteen articles of impeachment filed against him and gave his own version of the acts charged to have been illegal or connected with the misuse of his judicial powers. While Judge Archbald has admitted many of the circumstances of the charges, he denied yesterday any wrongful motives, corrupt acts or purposes.

It was expected that the cross-examination today would be interspersed with many questions from members of the senate. Senators followed the examination closely yesterday. The end of the testimony, expected late today, probably will be followed by three days of arguments divided between the house managers and Judge Archbald's attorneys before the senate is called upon to vote as to Judge Archbald's guilt or innocence.

Friendship Is Plea.

Friendship for his Scranton associates, with whom he had lived and worked for years, was the motive that led Judge Archbald to negotiate with officials of the Erie & Lehigh Valley railroad over the settlement of coal land matters, and that induced him to indorse certain notes, according to the statements made by the accused jurist yesterday, when he took the stand before the impeachment court of the senate to testify in his own behalf.

Judge Archbald followed his wife upon the witness stand. Led by his own attorneys he gave a chronological history of the transactions upon which the house of representatives had based its impeachment proceedings against him. He repeatedly denied that any unproper motives influenced his actions, or that he had sought to corruptly use his power as a federal judge to induce the railroad officials to do certain things.

ROUTS GANG OF WHITE SLAVERS

Two Arrests at Gary Have Broken Up Active Organization.

GET MUCH EVIDENCE

Garey, Ind. Jan. 7.—The arrest of Peter Marino, an Italian, following that of Frank Endoreno by the federal authorities in connection with the white slave traffic in Gary is thought by the police to do away with an organized gang which has been operating in northern Indiana the past year.

Several young girls from Michigan City, Valparaiso and Laporte have become inmates of Gary resorts in the last year. Evidence has been obtained by government operatives in which it is said Marino and Endoreno received $50 each for transporting Grace Fortune and Blanche O'Neill, each 17 years old, from their homes in St. Louis to a Gary resort.

PARCEL POST RULES.

Suggestion No. 4.

(The Sentinel will each day present a concise explanation of some of the parcel post rules and regulations.)

"Parcels must be prepared for mailing in such a manner that the contents can be easily examined.

"A parcel must not be accepted for mailing unless it bears the name and address of the sender preceded by the word 'From.'

"In addition to the name and address of the sender, which is required, it is prmissible to write on the covering of the parcel, the occupation of the sender, and to indicate in some manner the character of the parcel, but ample space must be left on the address side for the full address in legible characters and for the necessary postage stamps. Inscriptions such as 'Merry Christmas,' 'Please do not open until Christmas,' 'With the best of wishes' and the like, may be placed on the covering of the parcel in such a manner as not to interfere with the address."

33 GO DOWN TO DEATH IN GALE

SEEM ALSO DOOMED

Astoria, Oregon, Jan. 7.—The oil steamer Roseranz went ashore on Peacock spit early today and owing to terrific seas and the 55 mile gale, is expected to be a total loss. Tug boats and the life saving crew are endeavoring to rescue her crew.

Shortly before 11 o'clock the tanker's hull had sunk from sight. Three men of her crew of 36 clung to a top mast, which projected above the waves. All others, it was believed, had perished. It seemed impossible that the three survivors could be saved.

COMMITTEES NAMED

With more than a hundred trade representatives and delegates present, the fourth annual convention of the Indiana State Association of Master House Painters and Decorators opened this morning at Odeon hall. The sessions will continue until Friday afternoon.

Owing to the unfavorable weather conditions for traveling, only a small per cent. of the expected delegates arrived today, but officers in charge of the convention believe that all incoming trains tomorrow will unload great numbers of delegates from all parts of Indiana.

Following an address by the state president, Oliver S. Jones, of this city, and others, committees were appointed as follows:

TO INTRODUCE HEALTH BILLS

Dr. Crull Commends Measures Planned by Dr. J. N. Hurty.

FOR COMING SESSION

According to Dr. Erle Crull, secretary of the local board of health, who returned from Indianapolis this morning after a conference with Dr. J. N. Hurty secretary of the state board of health, the latter has many new health measures to submit to the state legislature, which convenes Thursday. Dr. Crull and Dr. Hurty went over the bills on Monday and prepared them for introduction to the legislative body.

In order to provide Indiana cities with better sewer conditions and to have municipal work under supervision of an expert, Dr. Hurty will ask the legislature to create the office of sanitary engineer as an addition to the city health departments. It is pointed out that many cities of the state have lost considerable time and money because their sewers were put down in a slipshod manner and afterward had to be taken up and constructed according to sanitary requirements.

Housing Conditions.

The "Housing Bill" has been groomed for presentation to the legislative body, and it is thought that this bill will pass. The measure has been strongly championed by Alice Fellows Bacon, of Evansville, who has worked incessantly to make it popular in health circles. The bill, if passed, will abolish unhealthful housing conditins among the poorer classes, who will be required to keep their residents in a sanitary condition. Favorable legislation for the measure would materially lower the mortality rate in the cities of the state, Dr. Crull says.

Dr. Hurty has also prepared what is

BARS SPOONING OVER 'PHONE AT SHELBYVILLE.

Shelbyville, Ind., Jan. 7.—Spooning matches over the telephone must be stopped in the future. B. B. Early, manager of the telephone company, says five minutes is long enough for any one to coo over the line. He has ordered that service be shut off after that length of time. Several kicks have been received from business men who have been unable to get service for several minutes. After an investigation it was found the delay was caused by young people who, unable to meet, used the telephone for their exchange of felicitations.

Disastrous Wreck Occurs on Big Four Near Lafayette.

WRECKING TRAINS RUSHED TO SCENE

It is reported that five persons are killed. One body has been taken out of the wreck, that of W. P. Felt, a traveling salesman of Rochester, N. Y.

Forty persons are reported to be seriously injured.

Wrecking trains conveying every available physician have been dispatched from this city. The train left the rails on a sharp curve, the cause of which has not been ascertained. Four cars left the track, completely turning over and blocking the track. The train was running at a high rate of speed.

The wreck is out in the country and it is difficult to get details.

At the offices of the Chicago division, Superintendent and General Superintendent Houghton this afternoon it was said no information had been received other than that the train was in a wreck. At the road's telegraph headquarters it was said their wires to Lafayette were down.

EXPERTS ARE BEING HEARD

House Committee Seeks to Evolve New Currency System.

SUBSTITUTE FOR COMMISSION PLAN

Financiers Have Been Invited to Give Views to Committee.

Washington, Jan. 7.—Seeking to evolve a new currency system plan to be recommended to congress as a substitute for the one proposed by the national monetary commission, a sub-committee of the house committee on banking and currency today began a series of public hearings that probably will continue several weeks.

Bankers and financial experts from all parts of the country have been invited to give their views. Those who were to be heard today included A. Borton Hepburn and Paul M. Warburton, New York bankers; Victor Morawetz, a writer, and Leslie M. Shaw, former secretary of the treasury.

Representative Glass, of Virginia, chairman of the sub-committee, expects to conclude the hearings in time to frame a currency bill before the end of the present session. There is no promise of the passage of any such legislation at this session, but the democratic members of the committee promise to have their plan worked out and a bill prepared for the next congress.

Some Rapid Stock Sales.

An examination of the operations whereby the capital stock of the California Petroleum company was sold three times over on the New York stock exchange in the first month of the company's existence, was today's program before the house money trust committee. G. G. Henry, of the firm of Solomon & Co., New York city, who, with Hallgarten & Co., and Lewisohn brothers, marketed the stock, was to be the first witness.

Mr. Henry's examination was begun yesterday. He produced the contracts and agreements by which a large part of the California petroleum stock was sold to syndicates formed by the three banking houses and by them sold to investors. These agreements the committee had endeavored to secure from Lewisohn Brothers, but failed.

Shipping Trust Witnesses.

For the opening of the house merchant marine committee's investigation of Brazilian ship lines, said to be part of the so-called shipping trust, scheduled for today, the following witnesses have been subpoenaed: Paul Gottheil, Lorenzo Daniels, Paul F. Gerhard, John C. Seager, Allerton D. Hitch, Wm. H. Douglas, Joseph Purcell and J. J. Slechta, of New York, and Sidney Storey, William Lowery, of New Orleans. The committee is working under a house resolution authorizing investigation of the alleged existence of a general shipping combine.

RACKED BY PAIN, SURGEON OPERATES UPON HIMSELF.

Minneapolis, Minn., July 7.— Driven to desperation by pain and his inability to find a surgeon who could relieve him, Dr. W. M. Beck, of Clarkfield, Minn., stood before a mirror in his office, made an incision just below his left jaw, cut away the flesh from the point of the chin almost to the left ear, scraped the bone and then sewed up the wound.

His operation, however, failed to relieve him of a growth which threatened to destroy the jaw bone and today he is in a hospital, where another operation has been performed. When Dr. Beck performed his own operation he was aided only by a nurse who was the first to give way under the strain.

The Dinner Hour

"THERE'S one thing that I am always pretty particular about," said Henry J. Meyer, manager of the local office of the Standard Oil company, "and that is to reach home for my meals on time. It is not only an excellent thing to be regular in one's habits, but it is an ideal arrangement for those at home who base their plans on the probable time that the members of the family assemble for meals."

With this preamble safely out of the way, Mr. Meyer went on:

"The other day, after a busy morning in the office, I went out upon the street to see several parties, and as I passed the court house I glanced at the clock, which indicated 11:30 and was impressed with the fact that time does most certain fly when one is busy. I found it impossible to see more than two of the people that I had in mind, and then made fast tracks for my home on Madison street. When I went in, I removed my overcoat and hat and was proceeding to prepare myself for dinner, because I figured that I must be several minutes behind time, when the folks discovered me and said:

"'Why—what's the matter? What are you home for?'

"'Home for? Why, to eat, of course,' I said, thinking the question a very idle one.

"'But why are you so early?'

"'Early?'

"'Yes, what time is it?'

Made fast tracks for home.

"I looked at my watch. It was only 10:30.

"The court house clock, I later found, had stopped the day before at 11:30 and I had to loaf around an hour or more for dinner."

SAFETY RALLY TO BE HELD IN CITY

Traction Employes and Their Families to Hear Address.

BY E. F. SCHNEIDER

Under the auspices of the safety first committe of the Fort Wayne & Northern Indiana Traction company and the "Wabash Valley Lines," a safety rally for traction employes and their families is to be held Monday, January 13, at Odeon hall.

Two meetings will be held, one at 9:45 o'clock in the morning and another at 7:45 o'clock at night. Among other things on the program will be an address by E. F. Schneider, of Cleveland, O., general manager of the Cleveland, Southwestern & Columbus railway. Special music will be rendered by an orchestra to be engaged later, and the matter of preventing accidents will be discussed in all its phases.

Special cars will be operated from the nearby cities. One car bringing employes and their families will leave Boyd park at 7:21 o'clock in the morning and another will leave during the afternoon, remaining in this city until the close of the night session.

may retain monthly from his pension will be increased from $15 to $22 if a bill, which Representative George D. Franklin, of Lafayette, will introduce in the legislature, is acted on favorably. A committee of the home recently addressed a letter to members of the legislature which set forth the grievance of the married veterans. If the bill of Representative Franklin is passed the married veterans will be placed on equality with the unmarried veteran and the soldier's widow. Representative Franklin is the first democrat aspirant sent to the legislature from Tippecanoe county since the birth of the republican party.

No candidate has appeared against W. H. Free, of Anderson, for the secretaryship and it is said he will be nominated for the post without opposition.

After Other Places.

There are four candidates for assistant secretary and the friends of each feel confident their man has a good chance for the place. The aspirants are Romus F. Stuart, of Indianapolis; Edward Holler, of Terre Haute; Smith Askren, of Depauw, and James A. Sweeney, of Plymouth. The appointment of chief doorkeeper of the senate lies between John D. Shea, of Indianapolis, and John Kelley, of Rushville.

B. F. Johnson, of Fort Wayne, is the only avowed candidate for the postmastership. Twenty-six votes are necessary for election at the caucus.

It was said that the "plunder" committee would give each senator the privilege of appointing one constituent for a sixty days' position or two men for thirty days' jobs in the senate. Lieut.-Gov.-elect O'Neill, of Mishawaka, is expected here this afternoon and it is believed he and Lieut.-Gv. Hall will confer on the senate committee assignments before the caucus meets this evening. Homer L. Cook, of Indianapolis, seems to be maintaining his lead in the contest for the speakership of the house. He argued today that the entrance of six other candidates had not impaired his strength and that he would poll 85 votes sure in the caucus.

Another Fort Wayne Man.

All candidates were making an active canvass of the representatives who have arrived in the city. The race for chief clerk is still between Samuel N. Quillen, of Linton, and Mark Wippen, of Salem. W. A. Peterson, of Fort Wayne, and Alvin Chaney, of Jasonville, have announced their candidacy for assistant clerk. The race had been between Paul C. Hill, of Greencastle, and Philip Lutz, of Boonville.

It was said that James Ensley, of Evansville, was seeking to become floor leader.

The "plunder" committe of the house will determine the number of employes and their assignments this afternoon.

Opposition to Ask Committee.

The six candidates opposing the name of Homer L. Cook, of Indianapolis, speaker of the lower house of the general assembly, held a conference this morning in which they decided to come before the house caucus tomorrow evening with the request that a committee be appointed to assist the speaker in making the committee appointments.

Representative John C. Branaman of Brownstown, one of the candidates gave out a statement in which he said the rumor that Homer L. Cook had promised committee assignments to strengthen his race for speaker was one of the reasons why the six candidates decided to request the house caucus to let a committee have a hand in the naming of the committee members.

The candidates want the committee to consist of the speaker, and a member to be selected from each of the congressional districts of the state. The candidates who attended the conference were Charles E. Smith, of Anderson; Emmet C. Mitchell, of Salem; John C. Branaman, of Brownstown; Norman E. Wolf, of La Porte; Michael C. Thornton, of New Albany and Willard C. Fitzer, of Cass county.

TESTING OUT BIG MACHINE

Auto Chemical Said to Have Been Lost in Transit.

WILL OPEN UP BIDS

Lost in transit—One auto chemical fire engine.

This is the explanation given by the White Manufacturing company for its failure to deliver the big machine purchased by the board of public safety for the Fort Wayne fire department. The big machine is now being given a final test in Cleveland and will be shipped to Fort Wayne in a short time. Part of the machine was built in Cleveland and then it was sent to Philadelphia to be finished and was lost between these two points.

Five bids have been submitted on the contract for a new auto-hose wagon for engine house, No. 2, and will be opened tonight by the board. It is estimated that the wagon will cost about $5,200 and the purchase will be the first step toward motorizing the entire department.

The old hose wagon at the house is ready to be retired and instead of buying a horse drawn vehicle to take its place the board will spend a little more money and buy the motor. It is proposed that as rapidly as the present equipment becomes unfit for use to replace it with autos.

The auto chemical built by the Harder Automobile company, of Chicago, which was rejected after having been on trial for several months at engine house No. 3, on West Washington street without giving satisfaction, has been shipped to the manufacturers.

Notes of the City Hall.

Bids on 1,500 street corner signs have been taken under advisement by the board of public works. E. K. Dorr, of this city, and the Albright Sign company, of Muncie, each bid 28 1-2 cents per plate, delivered and the National Enameling company, of Cincinnati, bid 23 cents per plate f. o. b. Cincinnati.

Cresent avenue is blocked on account of work on the Kentucky avenue sewer, which is being built by the Moellering Construction company. This sewer is to be about two and a half miles in length and will drain portions of Lakeside and Forest park.

PROSECUTOR CAN NOT FILE CASES

State Unable to Reach Rhum Games Except by Grand Jury.

UNDER POLICE POWER

Unless somebody will file affidavits against proprietors of places in which rhum and fan tan games are conducted for money, Prosecutor Harry Hilgemann can not reach them except by calling the grand jury and summoning witnesses.

Frank Fisher testified yesterday afternoon in the circuit court that he had lost $300 in the game conducted at the Star billiard hall and while his testimony did not bear out the fact that he had lost that much it was shown gambling is being carried on in the place.

He said that each of the men who takes a hand in a game is required to purchase checks of the proprietor or one of his clerks and that they are cashed when a player quits the game provided he has any left. On each hand that is played, he said, the owner of the billiard hall gets 3 cents.

Judge Eggeman in suspending sentence on Fisher took occasion to say that the games ought to be stopped, but unless there is an affidavit on which the state can start a prosecution nothing can be done without calling in the grand jury, and this is an expensive proposition to close up games that the police can stop any time by just telling the proprietors they must quit.

Saloonkeepers who permit gambling in their places would probably suffer more than anybody else by a grand jury investigation as under the law their licenses can be annulled for permitting gaming of any kind in their saloons.

"Have you given any orders to stop games for money in poolrooms and saloons?" was asked of Chief Abbott.

"I don't think it is necessary. I think they have stopped."

"Did your men stop them?"

"Not that I know of, but I believe they will be closed up."

Just what means the police will employ is a question, but rumor has it that a quiet tip will go out and that the games will be shut down. Mr. Hilgemann said he had no direct information on the subject, but had been led to believe that this step is contemplated.

Fisher's brother paid the money embezzled from William Klitske, of the Fort Wayne Dairy company, and Klitske stated during the trial that he had had two other men short in their accounts, one $35 and the other $80, and that both of them had charged the shortage to the rhum games.

MRS. HIATT GETS DIVORCE.

Woman Whose Name Was Linked With Husband's is Exonerated.

Anderson, Ind., Jan. 7.—Mrs. Nellie W. Hiatt has been granted a divorce from Fred W. Hiatt, who resigned as superintendent of the public schools of Lapel, while under charges, which linked his name with that of Miss Neva Galbreath, principal of the high school. Miss Galbreath also resigned, and was named as a co-respondent in the divorce suit. She was exonerated however, by the court who granted a divorce on the grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment.

WILL PUSH FAIR GROUND TRIALS

Judge Paulus is Selected to Preside in Driving Park Cases.

A COMPROMISE FAILS

Blind tiger cases against Oliver Stewart and Dan Clemens as principals and thirty-five bartenders and helpers as agents, growing out of the raid of the fair bar at the Driving park while the fair was in progress, will be rushed to trial in the circuit court and Judge H. J. Paulus, of Marion, will preside. He gave his consent this afternoon and will come to Fort Wayne in a short time, assume jurisdiction and set a date for the hearings.

A few days ago a tentative agreement was reached by which the appeal in the civil branch of the case under which the liquor was seized and held by the sheriff was to have been dismissed and the order of Judge Merryman, directing the destruction of the liquor, containers and fixtures was to have been executed and fines were to have been paid by Stewart and Clemens.

As Judge John W. Eggeman is one of the lawyers actively engaged in the defense he appointed Judge Carl Yaple and he was to have made the orders, but this program was abandoned today and the defendants decided they would take a chance on the appeal and would make a fight in the lower court in the criminal branch of the proceedings.

The early arrangement would have meant a loss of about $1,000 to $1,200 to the fair association and the directors could not see their way clear to consent to this.

Case to Go to Jury.

GIRL FIGURES IN MYSTERY.

She is Found Bound and Chloroformed in Sleeping Car.

Cincinnati, Jan. 7.—The unconscious form of a young woman who later said she was Miss Evelyn Stewart, of Jacksonville, Fla., was today found in her berth in a sleeping car on the Big Four which left Chicago at 9 o'clock last night. She had been chloroformed and an empty bottle which had contained the drug was found in the berth. Her arms were tightly bound behind her.

The young woman was taken to a hospital where she has since been unable to talk coherently. Physicians at the hospital declared she must have taken the chloroform voluntarily. Forty-six dollars in paper money and a ticket to Knoxville, Tenn., were found pinned in her hat.

The train attendants declare it would have been impossible for any one to have entered her berth during the night and said that all occupants of the car had been accounted for.

SAYS PERFUMERY ISN'T A LUXURY

Manufacturer Says Working Girls Spend Much of Wages for It.

THE TARIFF HEARING

Washington, Jan. 7.—Manufacturing interests from Paris to San Francisco affected by the contemplated democratic revision of the tariff were represented today at the second hearing of the chemical schedule before the house ways and means committee. The hearings will continue until Jan. 31, being divided between the tariff schedules taken up in sequence.

The committee is keeping the witnesses as closely as possible to their alloted time, allowing each fifteen minutes headway for uninterrupted argument, followed by a more or less close examination by the committee. Failure of the witness to appear at the appointed time forfeits his right to speak, though one is permitted to file a supplemental brief. The plan of Chairman Underwood is to get through with the hearings as expeditiously as is consistent with the policy of allowing all interested an opportunity to present views.

The first witness today was Theodore Richsecker, of New York, who bespoke the opposition of the manufacturing perfumers' association to the transfer of distilled and essential oils from the free list to a twenty per cent. ad valorem duty. He regarded it as a mistaken notion that perfumery was a luxury and that he had known of working girls who spent much of their wages for it.

RAIN AND SLEET DELAYS TRAFFIC

Cold Wave Delayed But We Get a Very Bad Combination.

SNOW FOR TONIGHT

Although the officially predicted cold wave in some manner failed to connect with Fort Wayne and northern Indiana early today, a combination of snow, rain and sleet arrived on schedule time and caused considerable trouble in delaying traffic.

The Fort Wayne & Northern Indiana Traction company operated fifteen cars over the city lines all night to keep the ice from forming over trolley wires, and in spite of this precaution the traffic was impaired to a certain extent during the morning. A steady downpour of rain and sleet continued to form on the wires and rails.

All the interurban lines operating from the south and west report considerable trouble, as it is said the weather is freezing south of Fort Wayne, and as a result all interurban cars are several minutes late in reaching the city. According to C. E. Palmer, superintendent of transportation, the worst trouble is experienced south of Peru. It was necessary to operate cars all night to avoid a complete tie-up this morning.

The official weather forecast for Fort Wayne and vicinity today is for snow and colder tonight, followed by fair weather Wednesday. If the schedule is carried out according to prediction, the city will again be ice-bound, and officials of the traction company look for more trouble both on the city lines and on the interurbans.

NEWS OF FORT WAYNE'S NEIGHBORS

GEDDIS CLOSED SALOON AT ASHLEY

Had Conducted the Place on Questionable License, But Finally Tired of the Fight.

Auburn, Ind., Jan. 7.—"Doc" Geddis, who has been conducting a saloon at Ashley for some time past on what is charged to be an unlawfully granted license, closed his place of business Saturday night and will not again reopen it as a saloon.

The attorneys of Geddis notified John W. Baxter and J. E. Pomeroy, attorneys for the remonstrators, that they had concluded to dismiss their application for a license that was to have been heard at Albion today, to which place it was venued.

It was claimed that every move made by Geddis was not to test the law, but to extend the time that he could run his saloon on the illegal license granted by the commissioners of DeKalb county, the township having voted against having saloons within its borders. Those who profess to know say that Geddis has coined many hundreds of dollars under the bogus license.

Attorney John W. Baxter went to Albion Monday afternoon to see that the proper entry of the dismissal was made when the case came up for disposition after numerous delays. Judgment was entered against "Doc" Geddis for all costs in the case by the court.

WORST STOMACH TROUBLE ENDED

No Indigestion, Gas, Heartburn or Dyspepsia five minutes after taking "Pape's Diapepsin."

Every year regularly more than a million stomach sufferers in the United States, England and Canada take Pape's Diapepsin, and realize not only immediate, but lasting relief.

This harmless preparation will digest anything you eat and overcome a sour, gassy or out-of-order stomach five minutes afterwards.

If your meals don't fit comfortably, or what you eat lies like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of indigestion.

Get from your pharmacist a fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin and take a dose just as soon as you can. There will be no sour risings, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fullness or heavy feeling in the stomach, nausea, debilitating headaches, dizziness or intestinal griping. This will all go, and, besides, there will be no sour food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapepsin is a certain cure for out-of-order stomachs, because it takes hold of your food and digests it just the same as if your stomach wasn't there.

Relief in five minutes from all stomach misery is waiting for you at any drug store.

These large fifty-cent cases contain more than sufficient to thoroughly cure almost any case of dyspepsia, indigestion or any other stomach disorder.—Adv.

MADAM! IF YOU DON'T FEEL RIGHT TAKE DELICIOUS "SYRUP OF FIGS"

Waste-clogged bowels, torpid liver and decaying food in stomach cause the sick headache, gas, backache, sallowness, biliousness and indigestion.

All women get bilious, headachy and constipated simply because they don't exercise enough. They don't eat coarse food, or enough fruit and green vegetables. Those are nature's ways of keeping the liver and thirty feet of bowels active; but very few women employ them. The next best way is delightful, fruity Syrup of Figs.

Nearly all ills of women can be overcome with Syrup of Figs alone. There is no need to have sick headache, backache, dizziness, stomach sour and full of gases, bilious spells, sallowness, coated tongue, bad breath, bad complexion, nervousness and depression. The surest and safest remedy is one or two teaspoonfuls of delicious Syrup of Figs. Try this tonight—you'll feel splendid in the morning when the sour bile, clogged up waste and poisonous matter have been gently but thoroughly moved on and out of your system, without nausea, griping or weakness. Your head will be clear, complexion rosy, breath sweet, stomach regulated; no more constipation, gases, pains and aches.

It is simply a matter of keeping your stomach, liver and bowels clean and regular. Then you will always be well—always look and feel your best.

But get the genuine—the old reliable. Ask your druggist for "Syrup of Figs and Elixir or Senna." Refuse, with contempt, the so-called Fig Syrups sometimes substituted to fool you. The true, genuine, bears the name California Fig Syrup Company; look for this on the label. Adv.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh That Contain Mercury

As mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

The Legislative Program

Naturally much interest attaches to the Indiana legislative session which begins during the present week, and this is intensified by the advent of a new state administration with Judge Ralston in the gubernatorial chair. In the course of several informal conferences between majority members of each house, held during the past few weeks, an effort has been made to agree on a general program of legislation. It is given out that the democrats propose to make every possible effort to redeem platform pledges and to adhere to a general scheme of economy in dealing with state problems. This will be cordially endorsed by the people of the state, but it is not to be interpreted as meaning a niggardly and parsimonious attitude that will fail to adequately provide for some things which Indiana needs and for advanced legislation designed to meet the demands of today.

So far as can be judged by his utterances to date, Judge Ralston as governor proposes to follow rather closely along the lines marked by Governor Marshall, the views of the two men upon state affairs apparently being practically identical. In the gubernatorial chair Mr. Ralston is expected to lend his support to the administrative measures advocated by his predecessor. These will include something in the way of a public utilities provision, an inheritance tax; a state penal farm, good roads legislation and creditable representation of the state at the Panama exposition in San Francisco. Governor Marshall has taken a stand against the multiplying of state boards and commissions, and holds that the control of public utilities should be vested in the state railroad commission as a matter of both economy and efficiency. That there will be amendment to the registration act seems assured, and in addition to those already mentioned, it is probable there will be no lack of other legislative propositions that will have to be threshed out. For the first session in many years, it does not now seem probable that legislation regulating the sale of liquor will figure largely in the legisative program.

With the republican representation so small as to be almost a negligible quantity, Indiana democrats are facing unusually grave responsibility in the coming session. There must be wise, careful and judicious action, conceived for the good of the whole people, or the elections two years hence will administer a stinging rebuke to the party it has now entrusted with power. The legislative program must be along progressive lines. It must meet the demands of the people without being riotously extravagant, and it must not on the other hand cripple vital state enterprises by mistaking stinginess for judicious economy. The task cut out for the majority in the new legislature is not an easy one.

It is going to be very easy to convince something like a score of ambitious patriots who want places in Wilson's cabinet that the president-elect is not only unduly particular in making his selections, but that he is overlooking a lot of unusually promising opportunities as well.

A lot of other folk whose tumbles upon icy sidewalks failed to get them into the press dispatches are prepared to extend sympathy to George Ade, humorist and playwright, whose performance in that direction at Lafayette Sunday afternoon did.

GOOD WORK OF PURDUE.

(Indianapolis Star.)

One of the important phases of the work being done along practical lines at Purdue university is the home economics part of the short course. Women and girls have their share along with the men and boys in the work outlined for farmers. The Purdue short course is to be held January 13 to 18. Not only will this course include discussions of soils, crops, fruits, stock and other farm subjects, but the women will attend and take up work in connection with foods, home sanitation, clothing, housekeeping and rural social conditions.

It is reported that the women in southern Indiana have recently evinced a marked interest in these Purdue courses. In six short courses completed recently more than 1,500 women and girls attended and local organizations were formed to carry forward the work outlined by the experts. Purdue maintains a course in home economics for girls and remarkable results are being attained in this important department it is said. The work is extremely practical and helpful. It is intended for the girl who is preparing to take charge of an American home.

In this course the girl is taught how to cook, to sew, to manage a house in all its parts, to make the almighty dollar go far and do much, and to make the dwelling place wholesome, healthy, attractive, sanitary and adequate to the demands of the self-respecting family. The instruction in this home economics course includes marketing, the use of money in providing nutriment and the selection of foods with due and intelligent regard for their nutritive value. Malnutrition and bad cooking are held to be back of a large part of the illness to which mankind is heir. Home economics at Purdue takes this into account. Indiana women can not do a more practical thing than to encourage dissemination of knowledge along sanlines having to do with bettering the home.

THE PRESS DISCUSSES WILLIAM ROCKEFELLE

"No Particular Renown."

Charlotte Observer: "Mr. Willis Rockefeller, in dodging the subpoena servers in the Pujo money investigation case, is casting no particular renown upon his cause."

"Studied Evasions."

Pittsburg Gazette-Times: "This studied evasion affords ground presumptive for a suspicion that Mr. Rockefeller has something to conceal or has done something that will not stand the light of scrutiny."

"Attitude Is Exceptional."

Albany Journal: "The fact that William Rockefeller's attitude is exceptional will be disregarded by those who seek only an excuse for renewed outbursts against wealth."

"Ceased To Be a Joke."

Washington Star: "William Rockefeller's advisers should seek to put an end to this shameful dodging of the subpoena servers, that has ceased to be a joke and has become an outrageous defiance of federal authority."

"Extreme Modesty."

Savannah News: "If the charge is true that the copper deal in which two men are said to have profited by $60,000,000 was in part responsible for the panic of 1907, the extreme modesty of Mr. Rockefeller might easily be explained."

"Mr. Morgan's Example."

Philadelphia Press: "Mr. William Rockefeller is doing himself no good by withstanding a 'siege.' He should follow Mr Morgan's example and face the music."

"One Tenable Inference."

St. Louis Republic: "Conservative opinion admits that William Rockefeller has disappeared, and there is but one tenable inference -William knows things that John D. does not know. The flight may not be a confession of guilt, but it certainly is not an impudent declaration of innocence."

THE FUN OF BEING ALIVE.

(Kansas City Star.)

There is a bright woman of middle age who tells her friends that she has lived long enough to learn that there is nothing to life, and that her chief aim is to pull through without getting embittered. Apparently she feels that a sort of sordid decency makes this demand, which she will try to meet.

Well, if a person doesn't find life worth living, there is nothing can be done about it. But most individuals get satisfaction out of family and friends, and books and music and red sunsets and the blue sky, and the human spectacle, and a good dinner, to say nothing of the pleasure in having a share in the world's work, or the consolation of religion. Even under hard conditions, living for the bulk of us is pretty good fun.

ARRANGE SOCIAL EVENTS.

Junior Order of Moose Will Give Banquet on January 17.

The Junior Order of Moose has arranged a number of social events to take place during the month of January, chief of which will be a banquet at Moose hall on Friday evening, January 17. Dr. Rondthaler, associate governor general, and Carl Bennett, special instructor, both of Anderson, and a number of the supreme officers of the junior lodge, will be present at the gathering. Oscar J. Blaising will act as toastmaster.

The order will give a public dance at Tanner's hall on the night of Feb. 3. Two thousand tickets have been printed and a large crowd is expected to attend. A stag pedro party and smoker will be given at the club rooms on next Friday night.

Try This Home-Made Cough Remedy

Costs Little, But Does the Work Quickly, or Money Refunded.

Mix one pint of granulated sugar with ½ pint of warm water, and stir for 2 minutes. Put 2½ ounces of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a pint bottle; then add the Sugar Syrup. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

You will find that this simple remedy takes hold of a cough more quickly than anything else you ever used. Usually ends a deep seated cough inside of 24 hours. Splendid, too, for whooping cough, croup, chest pains, bronchitis and other throat troubles. It stimulates the appetite and is slightly laxative, which helps end a cough.

This recipe makes more and better cough syrup than you could buy ready made for $2.50. It keeps perfectly and tastes pleasantly.

Pinex is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, and is rich in guaiacol and all the natural pine elements which are so healing to the membranes. Other preparations will not work in this formula.

This plan of making cough syrup with Pinex and sugar syrup (or strained honey) has proven so popular throughout the United States and Canada that it is often imitated. But the old, successful formula has never been equaled.

A guaranty of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this recipe. Your druggist has Pinex or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

PLANS STRICT PRIMARY LAW

Plymouth Man Has Bill to Safeguard Future Nominations.

GOSSIP AT CAPITAL

Indianapolis, Jan. 7.—Nomination of all candidates for public and party offices is advocated in a bill providing for a strict primary law, which Representative John R. Jones, of Plymouth, will introduce in the general assembly.

The nomination of the candidates, under the provisions of the bill, is surrounded with all the safeguards and penalties of the general election law. All parties are required to hold their primary election on the first registration day, as now provided by law and the registration officials are to act as the primary officials. Every voter, according to the bill, is required to register to enable him to vote at the primary election.

Extension of the metropolitan police law to include cities of 8,000 inhabitants is advocated by Representative George S. Billman, of Shelbyville, who will introduce a bill to this effect in the general assembly. Under the existing act, the metropolitan system is restricted to cities containing not less than ten thousand, nor more than 35,000 inhabitants.

A similar bill, introduced by Edwin Corr in the 1911 legislature, passed the house, but was not reported out of the senate committee on cities and towns.

Cook Probable Winner.

With five avowed candidates for speaker of the lower house of the Indiana legislature, which convenes Thursday, there was increased activity among the aspirants and their friends, who are gathering here for the opening session.

The indications are that Homer L. Cook, of Indianapolis, will be an easy winner, yet the other candidates, John C. Branaman, of Brownstown; Emmett C. Mitchell, of Salem; Michael C. Thornton, of New Albany, and Charles E. Smith, of Anderson, are very active and assert that Cook will not have a runaway race.

Cook's friends say he will have 85 out of the 95 democratic votes and they assert that when the caucus meets on Wednesday night there will be practically no opposition to his election.

Representative Thornton gave out a statement last night in which he said there was a strong sentiment throughout the state against the selection of a Marion county man.

There is a great deal of activity among the senators who will hold a caucus tonight and make an organization. It seems probable that Senator George William Curtis, of Mt. Vernon, will be chosen president pro tempore of the senate. There is no active opposition so far to him, but Senator Warren N. Hauck, of Lawrenceburg is a receptive candidate for the place. Senator Curtis' friends were busy last night urging his candidacy and it seemed likely that he will be chosen with practically no opposition.

A situation has arisen which may cause some embarrassment over the appointment of the standing committee of the senate. Lieut Governor Hall is insisting that the retiring presiding officer should appoint these committees and it is understood he has his list completed and will give it out when he calls the senate to order on Thursday.

W. P. O'Neill, lieutenant governor-elect of Mishawaka, denied the right of his predecessor to appoint the committees and will insist, it is said, that he be permitted to name them. It is argued that the incoming presiding officer should name the men of the different committees with whom he will have to work during the session of the general assembly.

O'Neill is expected in Indianapolis tomorrow and an effort will be made to bring the two men together so that an agreement may be reached before the caucus tomorrow night.

There will be a meeting of the house "plunder" committee, so-called, tomorrow afternoon on the number of employes, their distribution and assignments will be determined.

Things Women Should Know

(From the Journal of Fashion.)

"At this season of the year the complexion requires better protection than is afforded by powder. Dissolve an original package of mayatone in a half pint witch hazel and you have a complexion beautifier that makes the skin soft, lovely, smooth and satiny. Gently massage face, neck and arms with this in the morning and your complexion will need no further attention all day.

"Any woman can keep her hair clean, light, fluffy and beautifully lustrous by dry shampooing every week or two, and at the same time avoid danger of catching cold from washing the head. Mix 4 ounces powdered orris root with an original package of therox; sprinkle a little on the head and brush through the hair.

"Embarrassing wild hairs and fuzzy growths are quickly and safely removed by one application of delatone. Make a paste by mixing powdered delatone with water; cover the hairy surface for two or three minutes; then remove, wash the skin and the hairs will be gone.

"Mother's Salve is an old-fashioned remedy for coughs, colds in head or chest, catarrh and sore throat. It can be purchased in prepared form from any druggist. It is easy to use an quick to act. The world never saw its equal as a household remedy."

CERTAINLY CURES COUGHS

NYAL'S WINTER COUGH REMEDY

If the phlegm or mucous deposits are allowed to remain, they will not only greatly irritate the membranes of the throat—the bronchial tubes and lungs will become infected as well.

Girls Drop Plow and Pitchfork to Mingle in Washington Society—They Won't Dance the "Tango," Wear Low Necks or Talk Scandal.

(By C. E. Rodgers.)

Milstadt, Ill., Jan. 7. While the three Misses Wilson are making their debut in Washington, D. C., society from the white house at one end of Pennsylvania avenue, three farmer girls will enter the same existence of gayety, dances, receptions and all that from the other end of the same well known thoroughfare.

They are Katie, Frieda and Ottilia, daughters of Congressman-elect William Baltz, who came through via the landslide last November.

Congressman-to-be Baltz is a farmer; besides which he runs a bank and a mill and a few other things in and around Milstadt. And Katie, Frieda and Ottilia are real farmers!

Katie is 23, Frieda 20, Ottilia 18. During the farming season they ask no odds of any hired man on their father's big place. For them it's 3 a. m. every morning, and work in the fields until the cows come home in the dewy eve.

They harness their teams as quickly as the men folks can, and drive as well.

They plant the corn, riding the planter up and down the field as jauntily as the society girl guide her electric along the city streets.

When the planting and sowing is done Katie, Frieda and Ottilia take to the cultivator as ducks do to water.

When the wheat is to be cut, Katie, Frieda and Ottilia "follow the binder," gathering and stacking the sheaves. When the corn is ripe Katie, Frieda and Ottilia cut stalks, stack them and later on husk the ears.

Between time all they do is to help feed and care for the live stock, attend to the milking, butter-churning and poultry, and haul the farm produce to the mill or elevator.

And Katie, Frieda and Ottilia have found time to learn to play the family piano well, sing and read whole shelves of good literature.

Now they's going on to Washington with their dad. They are set on making a "showing" in the society down there. In the parlor of the big farm home they sat discussing their chances.

"I know the square dances," explained Miss Frieda, "and I am going to a dancing school when we get to Washington and learn other dances, too."

"Well, as for me, I wouldn't learn those dances the newspapers speak so awfully about," said Miss Katie, "and if I can't find enough nice folks there in society I will come back home."

So, while their dad is making laws for the nation, Katie, Frieda and Ottilia, garbed in the latest Milstadt creations, will venture upon their social campaign.

Of course the girls can't do the "bunny-hug." They don't know the A B C of bridge, and never saw an opera. A male butterfly of society garbed in a full dress suit will be stranger to them than a dodo. They never saw a taxi, or a bottle of champagne; and of all things! a low-necked gown won't be in their collection of trunks. They've never been fifty miles from home, and never saw the interior of a Pullman car.

Now, maybe, you begin to realize the size of their undertaking—breaking into exclusive society where it is of no earthly benefit to possess a record of stacking wheat, shucking corn or plowing.

Tall, broad-shouldered Congressman Baltz and the girls' mother, who tells with a deal of pride that she once walked between the plow handles, will back the girls to the limit.

SEEKING PROBE OF MARION HOME

Poor Food and Incompetent Nurses, Says Complaint Just Filed.

HEAD NOT ACCUSED

Washington, Jan. 7.—Charges of a rather sensational character affecting the food supply and health conditions at the Marion (Ind.) branch of the National Soldiers' Homes were filed with the Indiana delegation in congress, with a request that a congressional investigation be ordered.

As this is a time when investigations ar estrictly in fashion, congress may decide to probe the Marion institution. A resolution calling for such an investigation may be offered soon by a democratic member of the Indiana delegation, who has the matter under consideration.

Nothing is said in the charges filed against Col. Steele, commandant at the home, but the conditions prevailing there are scored, especially in the hospital and culinary department.

The author of the charges, who is a professional man of standing, says that he is willing "to appear before an investigating committee and confirm the above charges and many others under oath." He asks, however, that until such time his name shall be withheld from publication.

Among the charges he files with congress are the following:

1. That the food is notoriously bad, often deficient in quantity and always badly cooked and served.

2. That the male nurses in the hospital are incompetent and most of them addicted to intoxicants and often drunk.

3. That the hospital would not compare favorably with the hospitals of a hundred years ago and that isolation of patients suffering from incurable communicable diseases is not required.

4. That there are on the average 1,500 men in the home, 300 of whom are in the hospital and that the very large mortality, which is alleged to be one to two and sometimes three a day, is due in considerable part to want of a suitable diet.

It is asserted in the formal charges that "the situation calls loudly for investigation and reform." It is claimed there have been two epidemics of ptomaine poisoning during the last eight years, caused by bad food. The charges probably will be forwarded to the board of managers of the National Soldiers' Homes with a request for an explanation.

HUNTS FLOWERS TWO YEARS.

Englishwoman Returns Home From Africa With Rare Collection.

London, Jan. 7.—After nearly two years' wandering in Africa, Miss M. H. Mason has returned to England with a collection of rare flowers and bulbs and a number of flower paintings from nature.

Miss Mason was for twenty-five years chief inspector of boarded-out children under the local government board, and flower-hunting is her hobby.

"I had to take long railway journeys in Africa," she said, "and not infrequently I had the train stopped in order to secure a flower that I wanted particularly."

The bulbs brought home by Miss Mason are maturing in the botanical gardens at Cambridge, and the preserved flowers are at Kew, which will also be the home ultimately of her paintings.

Government Advises Housekeepers to Use Hydrocyanic Acid Gas.

Washington, Jan. 7.—Disheartened housekeepers, weary with struggles against bedbugs, cockroaches, fleas, moths, ants, flies, rats and mice, may take heart, for the agricultural department has found a remedy. It is hydrocyanic acid gas. Dr. L. O. Howard and C. H. Popenoe, the discoverers, acknowledge that it will drive out also the human inmates of the house in which it is used, but these may return later. The vermin can not.

In a brochure issued recently the scientists explain how the gas may be generated and applied. Grave warning is given, however, against careless handling of the compound, which is a mixture of sulphuric acid and cyanide of potassium. A few whiffs of the fumes will cause death.

The mixture is cheap, say the scientists.

SAYS $39,360 WAS LOAN, NOT A GIFT

E. T. Stotesbury Now Asks Mr. Hammerstein to Pay It Back.

BUT HE DECLINES

New York, Jan. 7.—Edward T. Stotesbury, Philadelphia banker and patron of grand opera, told a jury in the United States court yesterday that when he gave $39,960 to keep Oscar Hammerstein's Philadelphia opera house going in 1910—on nights when they were taking in as much as $154 in real money—the $39,960 was a loan and not a gift.

Oscar says he considered it a gift and for two years has refused to pay it. If he goes on the stand, which is likely, he says he will make things lively.

Mr. Stotesbury said he already had lent $600,000, which was secured by mortgages on Mr. Hammerstein's property. He did not ask for security for the $39,960 because he believed Mr. Hammerstein was a "man of his word and would make good."

Refers to Street Car Strike.

Mr. Hammerstein contends that Mr. Stotesbury gave him the money at a time when there was a street car strike in Philadelphia and the shutting down of the opera house would mean encouragement for the strikers.

All the details of the purchase of the Philadelphia opera house from Mr. Hammerstein by the Metropolitan Opera House company, Mr. Hammerstein agreeing to keep out of the operatic field in this country for ten years, were told by Mr. Stotesbury. He conducted the negotiations for Otto Kahn and his associates in the Meropolitan.

In connection with this Mr. Vorhaus, attorney for Hammerstein, attempted to show that Mr. Stotesbury and other Philadelphians guaranteed the Metropolitan company from loss when it produced operas in Philadelphia, and Mr. Stotesburg had made up deficits of thousands of dollars, while the Philadelphians refused to guarantee Mr. Hammerstein anything.

"The largest amount I paid in any one year, my share of the Metropolitan company's deficit," said Mr. Stotesbury, "was not over $103."

Tells of Various Loans.

Mr. Stotesbury first told of Mr. Hammestein borrowing $400,00 from him. Mr. Stotesbury taking a first mortgage on the Philadelphia Opera house. Then Mr. Hammerstein came around and got $200,000, putting up security. In the early part of 1910, Mr. Stotesbury said, Mr. Hammerstein came to him and said he was running behind between $60,000 and $70,000. Mr. Stotesbury told him he could draw on his banking firm for $30,000 whenever he needed it. Later Mr. Stotesbury added $10,000 to this sum.

"Did Mr. Hammerstein say anything about security?" Attorney Smyth asked.

"He didn't allude to it," Mr. Stotesbury replied.

Mr. Stotesbury had to answer many questions as to why he had not demanded security for the $39,960 loan when he always had demanded security and got it before. In substance his explanation was:

"I thought he would make good."

BOYCOTT GRAIN BAG TRUST.

Western Farmers Decide to Use Cotton Sacks for Wheat.

Spokane, Wash., Jan. 7.—After a year's debate involving a question of vital importance to wheat growers throughout the Spokane country, the Washington-Idaho State Farmers' union determined to use cotton sacks, boycotting what they declare is a "grain bag trust." The executive board, headed by President L. C. Crow of Pullman, Wash., took up the question of handling the grain in bulk or using cotton sacks, and decided on the latter. Mr. Crow and P. W. Cox will visit the headquarters of the farmers' union in the south to secure sacks. In company with National President C. S. Barrett they will visit southern mills to purchase 10,000,000 cotton bags. While there they will investigate the possibility of opening up a market for Washington and Idaho grain in the south.

A distinctive feature of the first big suffrage demonstration at the capitol will be the appearance of Mrs. Richard Burleson, wife of Capt. Richard Burleson, Third field artillery, U. S. Billie Burke

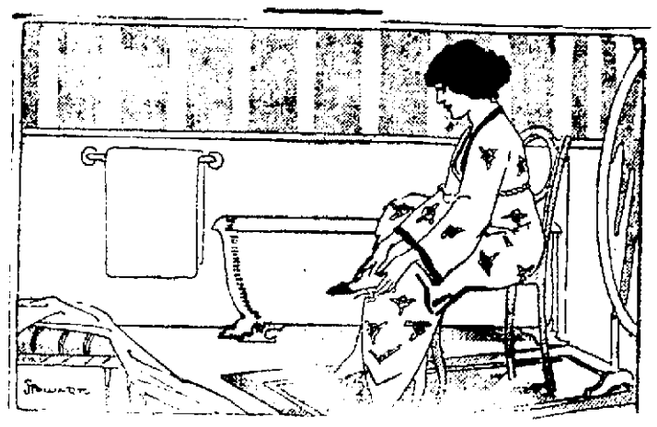
ON CLEANLINESS OF BODY AND MIND



(By Billie Burke.)

THE FIRST WORD—If cleanliness is next to Godliness, get near to God by being clean.

All you have to do this time of year to realize how many people belong to "the great unwashed" is to go into one of the tightly-shut, badly ventilated street cars.

Many intelligent people would have us think that our minds dominate everything about us. But it has also been demonstrated that the body has a great influence over the mind.

Perfect cleanliness of body is absolutely necessary to the woman who would have her brain capable of doing its highest and best work.

Water and air are necessities in which no one should economize. Fresh air is quite as necessary to perfect cleanliness as pure water.

Don't neglect your daily bath, because it is growing colder. If it is not convenient for you to use the bathtub every morning a quick sponge with water as hot as you can bear it, rinsing off with a wash cloth wet in cooler water will keep you clean.

Never leave any soap on your skin, and never take a hot bath of any kind without rinsing off with cooler water. If you bathe in the bath tub, after a hot bath let the water run cooler until the tub is nearly full.

After you have taken your bath, proceed to wash out your mind. Look in the glass. Are those "grief muscles" (as Darwin calls the muscles at the corners of the mouth) sagging? These muscles might as well be called "worry muscles," as they are rarely caused by physical pain and they are always the tell-tales of mental distress.

If you find these muscles sagging, SMILE! The mere physical act of smiling, even if it is purely perfunctory, will help to clear your mind of its worry. You will then find that a part of that sagging muscle is smoothed out. Now throw up your window and take three long breaths, clear from the bottom of your diaphragm. Out will smooth another little bit of the "worry muscle."

I wish I could impress it upon all my unknown frends that if they keep their minds free of unkind or ugly thoughts and their bodies perfectly clean their lungs full of pure air and only take simple food into their stomachs they will not need to use any artificial aids to beauty.

JUST ONE LAST WORD—A slovenly woman is apt to have her mind filled with rubbish, even as her body is physically neglected.

Billie Burke

AT THE TEMPLE

Do you want to forget all your cares and troubles in one big laugh? Then go to the Templt vaudeville this week. If you feel listless, dull and in a dont-care mood, be sure and go. By the time the music and noise started by West and Charles and ended in the finale of the Marx Brothers' "Mr. Green's Reception" is over you have had something better than medicine for you will have forgotten that anything was the matter with you.

Talk about a lively bill. Why, lively is a lame word. The bill fairly runs over with music and jokes and dancing. After the orchestra has given you "The Roaring Lion March" and some quieter things and the Gaumont weekly showing of pictures has held your interest for a few minutes longer out come two young fellows who give you a version of ragtime on piano and violin, that is classy enough to make a star pianist green with envy. Of course not because it is so classical but because the act is so taking and entertaining. West and Charles are the names of these entertainers and they have an abundance of energy, youth and talent sufficient to stamp their act with the unusual as well as the attractive.

The Empire State Quaret give a good act again this season. They have been before the Temple audiences before and they always score a hit and introduce new features every time. Their work is good throughout. La Faydin in her novelty art visions is the only quiet act on the bill. The pictures are lovely and the colors are astonishing they are so rich and harmonious in their blending. The act is not a novelty but the pictures are new and beautiful.

The headliner of the week is the Mark Brothers. Great entertainers are these four brothers, Julius, Arthur, Leonard and Milton Marx and they have a great act in "Mr. Green's Reception." The act is in two scenes, the first the schoolroom and the second ten years later when the unsquchable "kid" boys have grown up into young men who can do something and the little girls who have developed into attractive and accomplished young women. It would take a column to tell the funny sayings and doings either in the schoolroom or at the reception in the second scene. But there's a plenty. The Messrs. Marx are comedians of first water and their musical features are top notchers. Between acts Victor and George Harris do a clog dance singly and together that places them at the top of the list. They may not be alone at the top but they stand right there with the others. George Lee and Paul Vale are two young men who help the Marx brothers out and there are a number of girls who have an important part in the act. Jokes, stories, quips and music are the order. It is all clean, all funny, all good for tired people.

AT THE MAJESTIC.

The Common Law.

"The Common Law," a dramatization of the famous novel of that title by Robert W. Chambers, will be presented for the first time in this city at the Majestic theater Friday and Saturday, and the countless numbers of fiction readers who have thoroughly enjoyed this, the most sensational of all of Mr. Chambers' works, and one of the most startling stories ever printed, will doubtless be glad for an occasion to see the life-like character as portrayed in this exceedingly interesting book upon the stage.

"The Common Law" relates a most remarkable story concerning an artist and his unsophisticated model, their troubled love affair and the new and curious twist to the eternal triangle of the stage given in the story by Mr. Chambers is truly absorbing, and there can be no question about this, otherwise over a million and a quarter of the books would not have been sold. The artist is madly in love with his model, a beautiful girl, keenly allied to what she imagines is the difference in their station in life. She refuses to marry him because she is of the opinion that it will make him unhappy and ruin his future. Her logic stands as the barrier between them and the artist's mother and sister, both pleading with him not to marry the girl, makes his position a most trying and difficult one of delineation. The arrival of the other man, his attempt to make the beautiful model forget her sweetheart, a realistic stage fight and Neville's final decision to end his woes are all calculated to keep the audience in a continual thrill, but the change of the view of the mother when she sees the true conditions of the case and the girl's final realization of the falsity of her theories and the acceptance of the artist as her husband in the end, all combined in bringing order out of the apparent chaos. It is promised that the entire production, which is the original one, will prove utterly satisfying from all points considered.

Uncle Tom's Cabin.

Among the notable scenes of Kibble & Martin's "Uncle Tom's Cabin," which is to be at the Majestic tomorrow, matinee and night, is the St. Clare home, showing a tropical garden with is fragrant magnolia and orange trees, among which nestles the typical southern plantation residence, the home of Little Eva; Legree's cotton plantation on the Red river, with the cotton in full bloom; the wild rocky pass in southern Ohio, and the ice choking Ohio river by moonlight. The transformation entitled "The Celestial City," is said to be the most magnificent tableau ever conceived. In offering their revival to our city Kibble & Martin not only claim that the scenic effects are superior to any ever attempted, but honestly assures prospective patrons that the company is composed of the most capable talent obtainable.

TO CLEAN PLUMES.

Prepare suds by shaving and boiling half a bar of white or naphtha soap in a saucepan with sufficient water. Dilute with warm soft water. Immerse the plume into this and allow to soak for ten or fifteen minutes, occasionally drawing it rather loosely through the hands to strip out the dirt with the suds. Rinse in water of the same temperature. If not yet clean lay the feathers on a soft surface and with a soft toothbrush rub gently with soap and water, working inwardly from the stem. Rinse in clear, warm water and afterward, if the feathers are white, in bluing water. Draw through the palm of the hand to squeeze out the water, but do not twist. Pin or stitch the stem to a cloth and hang up to dry, with the thick end of the stem up. Shake occasionally while drying it, or, if time will permit, shake the feathers over the stove until dry. Or dry out of doors in a gentle breeze. Care must be taken that the wind does not whip the feather and break the stem.

DON'T WASTE YOUTR STRENGTH.

Work Is Good, and So Is Play, But Not Too Much.

Life is very much a great athletic sport, and those who desire to attain its rewards must keep in training just as athletes do who enter into the big games. Strange as it may seem, this "keeping in training" does not limit any one's enjoyment of the real pleasure of life. Instead it increases the power to enjoy to such an extent that many things and events which at one time seemed to hold no pleasure are sources of real and sincere enjoyment.

The first thing to do so as to make the most of your life and to get the most out of it that it is possible to get is to take stock of just what your life is and just what qualities and weaknesses you possess with which to face it.

Realize how much strength is left after the long day's work is over, how much is left to you to spend in pleasure, or whether you need to build up greater strength with which to do all the things you long to do. It never pays to burn the candle at both ends, for the day will come when you may pay for it heavily.

If you have not all the strength you desire, start in to gain it, and above all else, take heed of the danger signals by which nature warns us. She does the best she can by telling us when we are overtaxing our system. It is up to us to notice the warnings or to neglect them until it is too late to prevent a serious illness.

Danger Signals.

Feeling tired is not the only warning of danger by any means. One of them, and an important one as well, is forgetting names as we start to say them, or not being able to think of the word that we were just going to say. That means rest is needed, that the system is being overtaxed and is asking for time to get strength back again.

Not being able to sleep is another signal. We can get so tired that we cannot sleep, and when that state of affairs arrives it is imperative that we get ourselves into shape as quickly as possible.

We usually know when we are overdoing, and if the candle is being burned at both ends. Then it is best to cut out the pleasure end for a while. But the woman who studies herself and her duties and knows just what her strength amounts to and what she can do and refuses to overtax her strength unless under the exigency of a sudden pressure, should not be troubled by any of these danger signals. She will feel fit for either work or play, and will find that by so living and keeping in training she is proving to be a valuable and efficient member of both business and home worlds. As such she will be appreciated and recompensed for any little pleasure she may have had to put away from her.

GIVE BABY PLENTY OF FRESH AIR.

Luckily for the peopling of the world, babies are not apt "catchers." That is, they are not especially susceptible to smallpox, diphtheria and scarlet fever. They do not catch cold easily.

If a baby is kept in a clean, well-ventilated nursery and fed properly, his chance of keeping free from cold will be still better.

Part of baby's luck is no doubt due to the fact that he is not taken into crowded street cars nor allowed to mingle with other children who may have a disease or who may just be getting over it.

In fact, the cold-catching habit is more a result of wrong living than anything else. And baby hasn't had time to get that habit yet.

Generally speaking, the following rules on temperature are wise to observe when rearing a baby:

Keep the nursery or the room in which baby does most of his living, at 68 degrees.

Until he is three months old the night temperature should not go below 65. From 3 to 12 months old the nursery temperature may be 55, and after that age 45 is proper.

Be sure to air the nursery well at least twice in the day. After he is 3 months old the baby should have an airing out of doors every day except in the worst of weather.

There's nothing quite so stimulating to the small one's growth and love of living as to sleep out of doors for a time each day. But this, of course, must be guided by weather and other individual conditions.

WINTER ITCH.

(By a Physician.)

Cold weather brings with it various conditions of living among many persons which causes sickness.

Many people consider that the appearance of Jack Frost is sufficient reason for them to shut out their good friend, Pure Air, and depend on the cracks under the doorway and the tiny bit of air which comes through at the window for their stock in trade.

They turn on the steam radiator and draw the curtains and sit down to their own undoing.

And it's by this path that winter itch finds its way, along with other ills of the cold season.

This trouble usually affects the upper and lower limbs of a person who is otherwise quite well, and is particularly noticeable after a bath.

The remedy is so simple that all should keep it in their mental scrapbook of medical hints.

Winter itch is usually due to dry air in the house. If you who suffer with it get a hygrometer you will find the humidity of your home is around about 25 instead of 50.

To remedy this condition evaporate enough water in the house by placing pans of it on the radiators to bring the humidity up to the required point. The itching will stop.

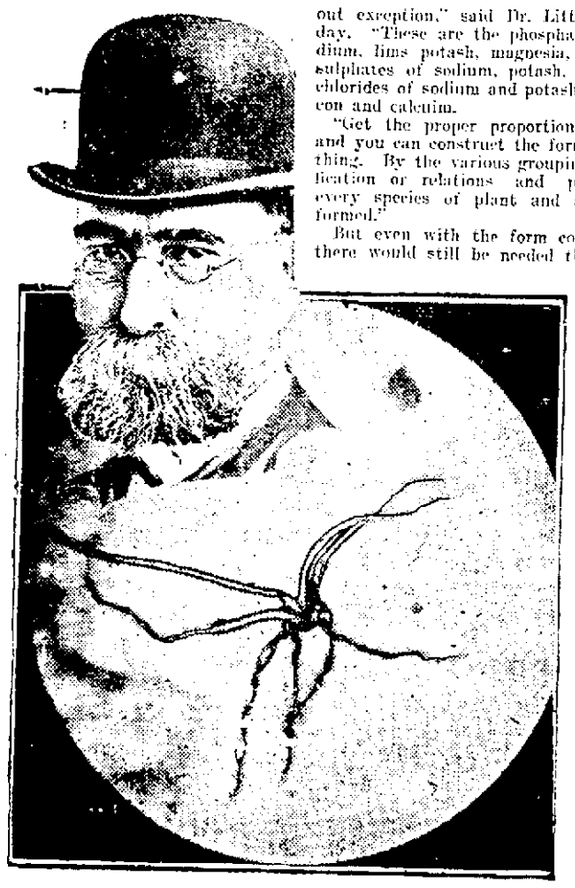
Has Riddle of Ages Been Solved by This Seattle Doctor? Who Claims to Have Produced Artificial Life.



DR. LITTLEFIELD AND HIS NEW "OCTOPUS" LIFE.

Seattle, Wash., Jan. 7.—Through incorporation of a society "to place before the world the discoveries of Dr. H. Littlefield in biology, psychology and metaphysics," it has become known that Littlefield declares he has found the process of creating life artificially.

Dr. Littlefield has been experimenting in the creation of life since he obtained his degree from the Kansas Homeopathic Medical college in 1886.

In his experiments, he says, he has created a minute, but new, insect, which, multiplied in size 1,200 times under the microscope, appears as an octopus-like organism.

Life—what is it?

What makes it? What is its origin? What is its source?

The scientists of all periods have tried to find the answer—Huxley, Tyndall, Hackel, Darwin and the rest. Now Littlefield says he has solved the problem. He says he knows the mystery of life.

Darwin declared that life can only be generated from antecedent life. That is, only the living produce living things—vegetable or animal.

But Dr. Littlefield upsets this theory. His discoveries are that life can result from the grouping of inorganic matter, inanimate objects, lifeless substances. So far his experiments have reached only the very beginning of the possibilities he is hoping for.

"Twelve elements enter into the composition of all organized beings, without exception," said Dr. Littlefield today. "These are the phosphates of sodium, lims potash, magnesia, iron; the sulphates of sodium, potash, lime; the chlorides of sodium and potash, and silicon and calcuim.

"Get the proper proportion of each, and you can construct the form of anything. By the various groupings, modification or relations and proportion every species of plant and animal is formed."

But even with the form constructed, there would still be needed that spark which makes life. The life principle, as Dr. Littlefield calls it, must be supplied.

The phenomena of creating life is reduced, according to Dr. Littlefield, to the proposition of saturating the substance so constructed with the "vital magnetism." This magnetism permeates every form of matter, says Dr. Littlefield. He proves it in this manner:

"Put a drop of water on a microscope and any substance in it that will float and not dissolve will be found to take on the phenomena of magnetism—that is, of attraction and repulsion among its particles during the process of evaporation. By repeating this process a number of times with the same particles of matter, they will become completely saturated with magnetic force.

"This process of evaporation is nature's method of saturating matter with vital magnetism."

It was while conducting similar experiments that Dr. Littlefield discovered he had created his new six-armed insect.

As the object gyrated, with comparatively high velocity. Dr. Littlefield was confident he had created a living thing. In a similar manner Dr. Littlefield found he could produce out of inorganic matter, the beginning of growth of lilies and other living cells, both in the animal and floral life.

"Carried out to its utmost," says Dr. Littlefield, "science will be able to create even human life."

UP TO DATE LINGERIE.

If possible, underwear is more elaborate and costly than ever. Sets in shell-pink silk ninon trimmed with real lace cost twenty-five dollars, three of each forming the set. Others are in forget-me-not blue batiste, the very finest quality, elaborately trimmed with lace and pale blue embroidery with white satin bows. Princess petticoats (no others are looked at now by the smart) are in softest lawn, with lace flounces and insertion. A useful little pocket is placed in the hem of these and hidden by the flounces.

This French lawn is soft and fine as a cobweb. Some of the underwear is inset all over with valenciennes insertion and edged with quantities of lace to match. Garments of this kind would astonish our grandmothers, could they behold them, for though they wore delicate and expensive underwear, their highest dreams would never have risen to the elaboration and cost of those now in ordinary demand; so much so that instead of the usual set of twelve, that of today contains but three garments of each denomination.

CONVICTED ON OLD CHARGE.

Walter Hamilton Suffers For Felony Committed a Year Ago.

Walter Hamilton, charged with petit larceny, was fined $1 and costs and sentenced to five days in jail this morning in the city court. Hamilton stole several bushels of coal from the Home Supply company in February, 1912. He eluded the police a number of times and left the state to escape arrest.

"Sandy" Ray, a negro, was fined $5 and costs for assault and battery on John Glieger, a fellow-workman at the Pennsylvania freight house. Sandy struck John over the left eye with a piece of board while at work last night.

Thomas Mooney, a one-legged man who is a demon when he drinks, was fined $25 and costs for public intoxication. Mooney started a rumpus in the Enterprise restaurant Monday night, but Officer Phipps grabbed him and locked him up. A previous conviction influenced Judge Mungovan when he fined Mooney. The latter will serve out the fine in jail.

W. F. Littleton had his case for drunkenness continued until Jan. 17 and his bond was fixed at $300.

Charles Eaton was fined $5 and costs for operating a motorcycle while in a drunken condition.

Charles Birgman, charged with operating a motorcycle without a sufficient muffler, was dismissed. The charges against Birgman were filed by a neighbor because the noise kept him awake in the mornings.

DIES SUDDENLY IN LONDON.

Paul Nash, Consul General at Budapest, is Found Lifeless.

London, July 7.—Paul Nash, United States consul general at Budapest, died suddenly at a hotel here early today. Although it was apparent that death was due to natural causes, an inquest will be necessary, as in all cases of sudden death.

Mr. Nash was 35 years old and had seen diplomatic service at Bangkok, Venice, Vladivostok, Rheims and Budapest. While consul at Venice he married the Baroness Ima Mayneri, of Piedmont.

Consul General Nash arrived here only yesterday. At the hotel he asked for a quiet room as he was suffering from insomnia. He was found dead there this morning.

SETTLED OUT OF COURT.

Contest of Vaughan Will at Richmond to Be Abandoned.

Richmond, Ind., Jan. 7.—The suit of Dorothy Vaughan Bernhardt, of Indianapolis, filed in the circuit court, to break the will of her grandfather, the late E. G. Vaughan, one of the largest property holders in Wayne county, has been settled by compromise out of court. She is to receive $20,000 more than the will allowed her. The estate is said to be worth $600,000, of which amount Mrs. Bernhardt, the granddaughter, was to receive $25,000, and her mother, the widow of Frank Vaughan, was to receive $5,000. Mrs. Frank Vaughan, according to the compromise, will receive $5,000 allowed in the will. Mrs. Bernhardt's share under the compromise is $45,000.

Mr. Vaughan died last August in Richmond. He was the owner of the Vaughan block at the corner of Main and Eighth streets and had a large number of government bonds.

CHARGED WITH ARSON.

Evansville Rooming House Proprietor Is Under Arrest.

Evansville, Ind., Jan. 7.—Following a fire at 122 Locust street yesterday, John Orr, proprietor of a rooming house, is under arrest charged with arson. He has been unable to give $1,000 bond. Mrs. Effie Hutchinson, his housekeeper, is also held. Firemen found coal oil in five bedrooms and fires going in each. The woman claims Orr told her to take her valuables away as there was going to be a fire Sunday night, but threatened her with death if she did not sleep in the place. The police learned that Orr had the furniture heavily insured Saturday. It was bought on the installment plan and he is behind in the payments. Orr denies the charges of the woman.

Germany to See That Lovers of Canine Meat Are Protected.

Berlin, Jan. 7.—At last the city of Berlin is to have its municipal dog butcher shop. Lovers of dog meat have become so numerous during the present regime of high prices that the government has deemed it advisable to slaughter dogs for eating purposes in an open dog slaughter house rather than prosecut the many dog butchers who were plying their trade illegally.

The dog slaughter house will be located within the Berlin municipal stock yards and be equipped with all modern contrivances to give the canines rapid promotion into eternity.

OLD STONE PROVES VALUABLE.

Supposedly Worthless Gift Declared to Be $1,200 Diamond.

Ravenswood, W. Va., Jan. 7.—While rummaging through an old chest Mrs. J. S. Wetzel came across an old stone given her twenty-seven years ago and which she thought had no value. She showed it to Mayor Ginter, who was a guest in her home, and he took it to a jeweler, who declared it a diamond worth $1,200. The stone was given to Mrs. Wetzel by Sam Cottrill, a relative, who was a professional seeker after precious metals and an extensive traveler.

$50 HAT AT RUMMAGE SALE.

Expensive Headgear of Charity Worker Sold for 25 Cents.

Steubenville, O., Jan. 7.—If Miss Nannie Green ever attends another rummage sale she will go bareheaded.

Miss Green, active in charitable and social work, was one of the promoters of a rummage sale to give the poor folks a chance to buy cast-off articles cheaply. She served as a clerk and laid her $50 hat near a counter where second-hand millinery was being sold at 25 cents.

An Italian woman picked up the hat with the query:

"How much?"

"Twenty-five cents," said the hurried clerk.

The triumphant daughter of Italy walked out with her bargain. When Miss Green looked for her hat on leaving the blunder was discovered.

The Misses Adeline and Fannie Goldberger, of East Wayne street, this morning returned from a holiday visit at Terre Haute.

SPORTING PAGE

BASE BALL WILL BE WORLD SPORT

Game is Spreading to All the Nations of the Earth.

IS GROWING RAPIDLY

New York, Jan. 7.—The sport of all nations!

What is it? It isn't, but it's going to be.

The time isn't far distant when baseball, the national pastime of the United States, will extend its influence around the globe and that puny description, the national pastime, must be discarded for "the international contest," the "world's greatest game," etc.

Baseball is just beginning to take hold in other countries and the rapidity with which the former popular sports of the countries where it has been introduced have been superseded by interest in our game suggests the above conclusion.

In China they are enthusiastic over the diamond sport as the average rabid United States fans, while its adoption in China and Japan is assured. Australia has been inoculated with the baseball germ, and interest in France is being created.

Americans are apt to think baseball is a game peculiarly their own and not adapted to the tastes of citizens of other countries. The wonderful growth of the game in every way in the United States and its establishment on a business basis are conditions well known to Americans.

But they have not all seen where baseball, played in every city, town and village in the country, needs must find some outlet. And that outlet exists outside our own country. It is not so many years ago that baseball interests here were organized, and baseball men have been so busy in their own country they have never made a determined effort to give it a start across the big pond. But where weather conditions are at all favorable and the game has been given a fairly hearty send-off it has attracted attention and promises to furnish a bond of common interest for the world's countries which they now lack.

The introduction of baseball into Australia was an event of comparatively recent history.

"When they started to play baseball there the people laughed at it," says Brownie Carslak, a famous motorcyclist, an Australian by birth, proud of it, resident of this country of three years' standing and retaining a slight Cockney accent.

"The big cricket clubs were the first to introduce it. During the winter months the cricketers wanted some sport to keep them in condition. Somehow or other they selected baseball. You know the winters there are not very cold. Snow is almost unknown.

"Later baseball games were introduced as preliminaries to football matches. Would you believe that when the spectators were in the grand stands waiting for the football matches, not 50 per cent of them looked at the baseball games that were in progress. They didn't think the game worth noticing.

"As time wore on occasional flashy plays attracted attention. The spectators soon began to have a slight understanding. And soon they began to go to the grounds earlier than usual just to see those baseball games.

"But you folks who see real baseball, would laugh at the kind played in Australia almost as much as we laughed when we first saw the game played.

"Just a few years ago the school authorities of one of our large cities made an arrangement whereby about twenty grammar school boys from California went to school in Australia.

"These grammar school boys formed a baseball team and simply outclassed the best teams that we had.

"But now baseball is taking a tremendous hold there. We Australians have the deepest admiration for anything American. Football is, of course, our foremost game and probably always will be, but I feel sure that baseball will some day challenge it for supremacy."

Carslak still cherishes strong friendship for cricket. He acknowledges that his education in baseball is still crude. After seeing the big league baseball games, however, he is amused when he recalls his experience at the championship matches.

"The big championship cricket games in our country start at 11 o'clock," he declared. "The cricketers come out on the field about 10:30, all dressed in nice white well pressed uniforms. Each side warms up for fifteen minutes. Then they start play.

"At 12:30 they stop for lunch and lunch until 2. The spectators, mind you, keep their places during all that time for fear they will not be able to get them and if they leave the grounds. At 2:30 the match is resumed. At 4 o'clock there is another recess for tea. Along about 5:30 or so someone gets a notion that it is growing dark or something of that sort. The match is stopped. Everybody goes home, to be out early the next day for a repetition of the same stunts.

"Cricket is a mild game, and is scientific too, but oh, how different from baseball. The fact that a man soils his uniform is sufficient reason for a recess, which lasts just as many minutes as that player needs to put on a clean uniform.

"I was a great cricket enthusiast, but now after having seen Lajoie and some other great players, my ambition is not to see the next match for the cricket championship of the world, but merely to see Hans Wagner, Ty Cobb and other stars of baseball."

ENGLAND OFFERS WILLARD PURSES

Three Matches Will Get Him $75,000 if He Accepts Them.

FT. WAYNE AFTER HIM

Chicago, Jan. 7.—Three matches which will net $75,000 before the National Sporting club of London have been offered Jess Willard, one of the few remaining members of the "hope" brigade in good standing and the only heavyweight credited with a decision over Luther McCarty, recognized champion of the world.

Willard, like McCarty, jumped into fame within a year, less than twelve months ago being one of Texas' most enthusiastic soil tillers. Discovered by Charley Cutler, wrestler, he was taught the rudiments of the game and after several mediocre bouts attracted attention by outpointing McCarty. The National clubs other came as a surprise to Willard, for it was announced that McCarty was being sought to fill the engagement signed the Texas giant.

The London officials' agreement, as far as could be ascertained, named no opponents for Willard, claiming the right to match him with any fighter they saw fit to sign. It is thought, however, that Bombardier Wells, the English heavyweight champion, would be Willard's first opponent. Sam Langford and Sam McVey are the other heavyweights hinted at as likely opponents, and this are caused a hitch in the signing.

Willard is undecided whether he will accept a fight with a black man. When he started fighting he announced that under no condition would he box a colored man, even though he became champion of the world. For this reason he has delayed affixing his name to the contract and has cabled the London officials asking that only white boxers be signed to meet him. In case his request is not granted he may change his mind, for $75,000 is a large purse and large purses have not been plentiful with him.

Besides the London offer, Fort Wayne boxing promoters also are anxious to match Willard with some likely opponent. He has been offered a match on either Jan. 21 or 22 with some heavyweight selected by the club. It is thought that either Jack Leon or Eddie Ryan will be the man picked by the promoters.

Because of the offer the plans announced by Willard and his manager, Charley Cutler, several days ago were changed. Instead of going into vaudeville they will remain in Chicago until something definite is decided on.

Willard's boxing career looks good as an investment to four Chicago business men. He may go into the hands of a syndicate with a price of $10,000 on his head. That is the sum the members of the syndicate have offered Charley Cutler for his interest in the fighter. If Cutler accepts the terms and Willard agrees, these four will have entire management of the young heavyweight.

Willard stepped ten even rounds with Luther McCarty six months ago, and in a good business proposition. The syndicate wants to take hold of him and boost him into landing another battle with the Missouri cowboy, who last week eliminated Al Palzer from the "hope" competition and won the title of white heavyweight champion of the world.

C. E. Robinson, George W. Kenny, Dr. J. J. Davis and George Hoffman are the men who have offered Charlie Cutler a big bonus for his interest in the Kansas farmer. A price of $10,000 has been put on Willard's head by the members of this syndicate. They agree to pay Cutler $2,500 when he signifies a willingness to do business. Another $2,500 will be turned over to Cutler's keeping when McCarty and Willard are matched and their forfeits posted. And the day that the heavies clamber into the ring to battle for the world's title $5,000 will be paid the wrestler-manager.

All this coin of the realm is to be delivered on the condition that Willard is satisfied with the arrangements. If Cutler is willing to waive any right he now has in Willard and Jess is willing to sign an agreement with the syndicate the latter will at once select a capable manager of Chicago to look after the six foot six inch giant.

BOWLERS IN DRESS SUITS.

Youngstown Pinmen Will Introduce Novelty at State Tourney.

The ordinary bowling attire in vogue among most bowlers will be put in the shade by the habiliments to be worn by the Goodlow team of Youngstown when it rolls in the state tournament. Each member of the team will wear a dress suit during the five-man event.

This news, assuring another interesting feature for the tournament, was conveyed to Jack Sell, state president, Monday morning in a message from Secretary Percy Hills, who is taking care of the Youngstown entries. Sell was asked to reserve a place on one of the squads for the night of Monday, Jan. 20. The fans will that night be given a chance to see whether dress suits and high scores are in any way connected.

PALZER TO VISIT HIS HOME.

Defeated Heavyweight Has Gone to Iowa for a Short Stay.

Los Angeles, Jan. 7.—Al Palzer, defeated contender for the heavyweight McCarty championship belt on New Year's day, will reach his Iowa farm home today. He was accompanied to the depot by his manager, Tom O'Rourke, and his late camp trainers, who bid the big boy a hearty goodby. Palzer seemed to have regained his cheerful spirit.

The big German was reticent as to his plans for the immediate future, but declared this trip is his first lap on his new career as a contender for the heavyweight championship. He will leave for London the latter part of this month to go into training for his second engagement with Bombardier Wells, and declares he will again fight his way up to Luther McCarty and this time will gain the crown.

LUTHER M'CARTY GOT A QUARTER AND A LICKING IN HIS FIRST RING BATTLE.

HOME VILLAGE PRATTLES PROUDLY OF HERO'S LIFE—LUTE KNOCKED OUT BY DUB—WAS GREAT SEWER DIGGER—FATHER IS HUGE "INDIAN DOCTOR"—MOTHER WAS A GIANT—SISTER "CHAMPION BAG PUNCHER."

LOG HOUSE WHERE M'CARTY WAS BORN; CHAMPION AT AGE OF 17. HIS SISTER, "HAZEL KIRKMAN," AND HIS FATHER, "DR." ANTON P. M'CARTY, KNOWN AS "WHITE EAGLE."

(Special Correspondence.)

Sidney, O., Jan. 7.—"Wham!" said a man near the ringside as a left-hand swing delivered by Harry Hollinger, an obscure laborer in a local tannery, knocked out Luther McCarty and made McCarty champion of the world.

Hollinger, a giant, put over the epoch making punch in a vacant store in this town one August night in 1911.

Incidentally McCarty's remuneration for the pummelling was a quarter, and he explained, "I needed two bits to buy some hash."

In this, his first boxing contest, McCarty was literally beaten to a pulp. When he regained consciousness Luther offered his hand to the victor and exclaimed.

"You made a dub of me, Harry, but I'm going to stick to the game and show up some of you fellows before I'm through."

"I guess Lute made good all right," said Hollinger in discussing the Sidney lad's career, "but remembering the soft pickin' I had, I honestly would take another try at him. I believe it was the beating I gave Mack that started him toward the championship. He left town soon after we fought, and the next we heard he was fighting preliminaries out west."

There is just one subject discussed on the street corners in Sidney these days and that is the meteoric ascent of "Lute" McCarty.

"Why, me and Lute used to work on the South Water street paving job together," one fellow proudly exclaimed.

"Many's the time McCarty washed them there windows," is the new threadbare explanation of a Railroad street barber.

"Lute was one of the best sewer diggers in the county, and I ain't no slouch myself," is the egotistical confidence oft repeated, of another native.

The heavyweight champion was not born here, but on a ranch on Driftwood creek, in that portion of Nebraska known as Wild Horse canyon, March 20, 1892. McCarty took up his residence in Sidney in 1907.

The boy's father, "Dr." Anton P. McCarty, known as "White Eagle," was for years proprietor of a traveling medicine show. He lives in Piqua, ten miles south of here.

"Dr." McCarty's stock in trade when he was on the road was rattlesnake oil, and when the family came to Ohio it was Luther's task to care for the diamond backs used as advertising.

Soon after settling in Piqua Luther tired of his job as valet to a bunch of rattlers and sought work in a local plant. Within a few months he was "Jack of all trades" requiring only muscle and willingness, of which he possessed plenty.

"Sure I'm proud of my boy," said "Dr." McCarty, "but his being champion is no surprise to me. I predicted that years ago. And do you know why? Well, sir, because Luther told me he would be champion.

"He was always 'daffy' about prize fighting. Even as a boy the little cuss never said he'd do a thing but that he did it.

"But don't think my boy's being champion would keep me from spanking him if he needed it," and the father of Palzer's conqueror drew up his 6 feet 5 inches and his 315 pounds of anatomy with pardonable pride.

"Luther's a fine boy, but he hasn't won a decision over his dad, and he won't until he becomes of age next March.

"I've only one regret," and the giant's eyes were unsuiciously moist, "and that is that Luther's mother didn't live to see him champion."

Luther's mother weighed 200 and was six feet in height.

Until she retired recently, McCarty's sister, who lives at Boise, Idaho, was known in vaudeville as Hazel Kirkman, world's champion woman bag puncher.

Luther McCarty was married at 16 to Miss Rhoda Wright, 19. A daughter Cornelia, aged 20 months, is their only child. Mrs. McCarty is the daughter of Theodore Wright, a prosperous farmer residing several miles northeast of this place.

SEASON TICKETS FOR SOUTH BEND

Old Cross-Roads Plan for Maintaining Ball Team in 1913.

WILL HOLD MEETING

South Bend will try the old crossroads plan of selling season tickets to maintain its baseball club for 1913, and a meeting will be held tomorrow night at which the situation will be discussed and arrangements made to launch the scheme.

Fandom at South Bend never learns its lesson. There has been just one successful season in baseball there and that was when Bert Annis owned the club and ran it as an individual enterprise. True enough, he fell down the following season and moved his club to protect his Grand Rapids interests, but taken as a whole the big stock companies and the other ownership plans have miserably failed in South Bend and the city is apparently anxious for another failure of the same kind.

It is proposed to sell 300 season tickets at $15 each to purchase players and get ready for the start. Erie did the same thing last season, and in spite of the fact that the Sailors fought right down to the last two weeks for the pennant, had the biggest daily average attendance in the league and had every opportunity to finish with a good profit, there was a deficit at the close of the season.

The great drawback is this money obtained by ticket sales is put into players and into the $2,000 guarantee fund required of each club. Later in the year these 300 tickets are presented daily and no actual cash is spent at the gates. The home club has to pay the visiting club 12½ cents each for these tickets and this money is not coming in when it is most needed.

This was the experience at Erie, and even on days when there was a good attendance the company had to dig down in its bank account and pay the share of the receipts due the visting club. The South Bend Tribune has this to say:

"The baseball men have sounded the sentiment of leading residents of the city relative to their desire to see South Bend retain a standing in Class B baseball and are convinced that any class lower than the present standing will be unwelcome. Should the present movement fail it is understood that the holders of the local franchise will dispose of the same for a financial consideration and thus leave South Bend out of the baseball world. Evansville, Marion, Ind., Newark, O., and several other cities are said to be watching the local situation with the hope that the franchise will be placed on the market. Any one of these towns are exceedingly anxious to take it at its full valuation, $2,600. It is also figured that the players under reserve by the local club will bring at least $2,500 more. Among the men exceedingly valuable are Nespo, Sack, Arndt, Tieman, Perrins, Bates, Donahoe, Wetzel and Kaiserling. The rest of the team will also command a fair sum if placed on the market."

BLEACHER SEATS FOR THEIR GAME

Friars Will Move Football Rigging Up to Library Hall.

TO TACKLE MUNCIE

In order to provide better seating arrangements for their patrons, the Friars will move the bleacher seats used at the football games last fall to Library hall for the engagement with the Muncie Congerville five on Friday night.

These seats were purchased in partnership with Owner Claude H. Varnell, of the local baseball club, as a compromise measure when the Friars asked for the use of the diamond at League park so they could use the stands for seating.

In addition to this reserved seat coupons will be on sale at Schirmeyer's cigar store, Wayne and Calhoun streets, on Wednesday night. Seats will be numbered and patrons can be sure of getting just what they purchase.

Congerville is a Muncie suburb established several years ago for the manufacture of iron and glass. This was in the old natural gas days when big industries sprung up in a night. For several years this suburb has maintained an athletic organization with baseball, football and basket ball attachments.

The basket ball division of the club will be the opposition to the Friars at Library hall Friday night when the locals make their second appearance. Advance notices indicate they will have a little stronger task on their hands than they had in the opening bout. Although there were some good individual players on the St. Joseph club the teamwork was lacking. In preparation for the contest Coach George Sunday is putting his men through their paces and hopes that they will have attained a little more accuracy in shooting.

SECONDS GET DRUBBING.

PRAISE FOR MAN WHO COMES HERE

Fred H. George Active in Business Circles at Keokuk, Iowa.

REGRET AT PARTING

(From Keokuk Daily Gate City.)

It is with regret that announcement is made that Keokuk is about to lose one of its prominent and active families by removal to another field. Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. George, who have become so much a part of Keokuk activities, are soon to take up their abode at Fort Wayne, Ind. Mr. George during his residence here has proved himself to be an up-to-date, progressive business man and a gentleman of fine social qualities. As manager of the S. P. [illegible] Co. of Keokuk, he has held first rank among, not only the business people of Keokuk, but in a wide scope of country in the tri-states of Iowa, Missouri and Illinois. Full of public spirit, and as he has been called, "a live wire," he has been prompt and active at all times to spare a few moments from business cares on many occasions, to help boost Keokuk. Socially he is a prominent member of the Order of Elks and of the Keokuk club. Always genial and companionable, no man has more or warmer friends in Keokuk than Fred H. George. Mrs. George, his amiable wife, is also prominent and active in the social and club life of the city. It will be with deep regret that the large circle of friends, her many characteristics of grace and culture have drawn to her, will hear of her departure from the city to a permanent home elsewhere. Mrs. George is a gifted member of the Monday Music club and other prominent organizations in which she has been active and added much to their life. The best wishes of this community will go with them to their new Indiana home.

The clipping given below from a recent number of the New York Current Review will give explanation of what is said above and the reason why Mr. George leaves Keokuk to locate at Fort Wayne:

New Indiana House.

Sherman White & Co., Inc., is a new concern with headquarters at Fort Wayne, Ind. Its paid-up capital is $100,000 and its officers and directors are: W. T. S. White, Chicago, president; Geo. F. Hinrichs, New York, vice president; Chas. H. Worden, Fort Wayne, treasurer; Fred H. George, Fort Wayne, secretary and manager. The directors are the officers and W. W. Hook, of Chicago, and the incorporators are the previously mentioned parties and L. A. Hamill and E. S. Baker, of Keokuk, Iowa, and W. J. Vesey, of Fort Wayne, Ind.

The plant is to be located on an acre of ground at the corner of Clinton and Murray streets in Fort Wayne, with direct track connections with the Wabash, C., H. & D., G. R. & I., Pennsylvania and the interurban lines. The main plant is to be strictly fireproof, built of reinforced concrete throughout and will be largely devoted to cold storage, including freezing temperatures. Facilities will be provided for carrying on trade in a general line of dairy products in a separate fireproof, steel and concrete building, embodying modern features and sanitation and intended to be a real "show" place in this respect.

It is said the stock has been fully subscribed by the gentlemen above mentioned and other friends and associates of Mr. White who are and have been interested with him for years in kindred concerns located in Iowa, Illinois and Minnesota. The new concern's banking arrangements are with the First National bank of Fort Wayne, Ind., and the First National bank of Chicago.

Fred H. George, who is to be secretary and manager, is one of the real live wires among the younger generation in the produce business. He has been at Keokuk with the Pond interests for some time and in Indiana ought to set a pace in his line.

ESCAPED AFTER FIFTEEN YEARS.

W. P. Broyles made a successful escape after fifteen years of suffering from kidney and bladder troubles. Foley Kidney Pills released him and will do just the same for others. He says: "They cured a most severe backache with painful bladder irregularities, and they do all you claim for them." Take the "direct road" to health and strength by using Foley Kidney Pills for backache, rheumatism, weak, sore kidneys and bladder irregularities. They are the best medicine you can buy for kidney and bladder ailments. Dreier Drug Co.—Adv.

CAPTURES WOLF IN PIECES.

Daring Colorado Man Gets Leg One Year and Body Later.

Meeker, Col., Jan. 7.—W. H. Caywood, the local man who followed Jack Abernathy into fame as a barehanded wolf catcher, has added to the arguments presented for making him state wolf catcher by coming in from the mountains with a three-legged wolf pelt.

This verifies the story of Caywood told last year of having followed a large wolf into its den. He was unarmed and in the fight that followed he pulled one of the forelegs from the animal. This year he went back to the same place and cornered the wolf in the same den and killed it.

The three-legged pelt will be sent to the capitol as an argument for his appointment as a state official.

CUT THE HIGH COST OF LIVING.

W. H. Chapman, Winnebago, Neb., tells how he did it. "My two children had a very bad cough and the doctor's medicines did them no good. I got a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound, and before it was all used the children were free and cured of their cough. I saved a doctor's bill for one 25c bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound." A mean stuffy cold, with hoarse wheezy breathing is just the kind that runs into bronchitis or pneumonia. Don't trifle with such serious conditions, but take Foley's Honey and Tar Compound promptly. Contains no opiates. Dreier Drug Co.—Adv.

SHOPS BADLY CRIPPLED

Macedonians Quit Work in a Mass to Celebrate Holiday.

MANY WENT TO INDIANAPOLIS

Sleet Storm Blocks Switches and Impedes Traffic on Roads.

Every Macedonian in Fort Wayne is observing Macedonia Christmas today. As a result of the holiday the Bass foundry is badly crippled and one of the departments is closed. Nearly 100 Macedonians are employed in that shop and not one reported for duty this morning. All those in other shops, including twelve in the Pennsylvania erecting shop, are also observing the day and failed to show up. Many of these people are attending church exercises at Indianapolis today, the majority of them going down to that city over the trolley line. They will return tonight and all will report for duty tomorrow morning.

STORM DELAYED TRAINS.

Movement of Freights Accomplished With Difficulty.

The sleet and snow storm last night made trouble for the railways and particularly the freight department. The sleet got into the switches and would not allow the switch points to come against the rails until men with picks had removed the ice. As a result all freight trains were unable to move on schedule time. Passenger trains, however, were put through on nearly schedule time.

BURGLARS VISIT LAMAR HOME.

It has been learned here that while Mr. and Mrs. Adam LaMar and daughter, Luella, were visiting Mrs. LaMar's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Graham, on Christmas, their home in Chicago was entered by a thief and two diamonds, a stud and a pin, belonging to Mr. LaMar; a gold watch belonging to Mrs. LaMar, and a "bank" containing about $35 belonging to Luella, were taken. The family returned home Friday night following Christmas and found a light burning in the house. The lock at the front door had been fixed so that Mr. Lamar could not operate it and he went to the rear, where he found the door open. The family live in apartments, of which there are twelve in the house, but the occupants of the other apartments knew nothing of the robbery until informed of it by Mr. LaMar, though they wondered why a light had been in the house day and night.

This arrangement, it is said, is made with a view of facilitating the handling of outgoing machinery.

LIE PASSES IN CITY COUNCIL.

Evansville Body Has Stormy Session, in Which Officers Clash.

Evansville, Ind., Jan. 7.—Albert W. Ossenberg was elected president and Joseph Bartholomew vice president, of the Evansville city council inn a session that bristled with excitement after the lie had been passed between Eli D. Miller, the retiring president, and William J. Woolley, the retiring vice president. In a speech before nominations were made, Miller, who desired re-election, said that Woolley was a candidate for the presidency a year ago and solicited his support. This provoked the retort direct from Woolley. Miller ordered Woolley to be seated and, when the latter ignored the demand, the president ordered a police officer to escort him out. Woolley sat down and nothing was done.

Electric Farm is Here—Illinois Man Turns Current Loose Among His Vegetables.

Above, overhead wires and poles on the "electric farm." Below, William Stahl, the electrical farmer, and two hothouse plans given an equal start, the one on the left stimulated by electricity.

If an electric current can stimulate the strength and vitality of the human body, why should it not nourish and nurture plant life with equal success?

This is the question William Stahl, an Evanston Ill., electrician-gardener asked—and answered by electrifying his little farm. He raised a series of crops of beans, tomatoes, beets, potatoes, corn, melons and other garden fruit, each and every one of which came to maturity several weeks ahead of those on his neighbors' farms. He even planted a second crop late in the summer and brought it to a successful harvest after the frost had killed off nearly everything else on the surrounding farms. Moreover, the vegetables grown on the Stahl farm were of a size and flavor that no neighboring farmer equaled.

His electrical farm does not differ in appearance from other farms save in the poles set in the fields which might be mistaken for climbing poles for vines were it not for their unusual height and the wires connecting them.

There ise also a network of wires running underground, these being placed at a depth of about a foot and a half beneath the surface, and from 10 to 20 feet apart, while the overhead wires are strung about a foot apart. It is along these wires that morning and evening the electrical current is turned on from the main switchboard, energizing the soil and making it especially productive.

The power is supplied by the city electric lighting plant at from $2.50 to $4 per acre for the crop system. The electrical treatment is started just when the plants begin to come out of the ground, and it is continued until the crops are about ready to be harvested.

The original cost of the installation of the electrical machinery is not excessive, and the cost of the current is more than offset by the saving on the cost of manual labor ,while the farm must be plowed and otherwise tended in theordinary way, the gross amount of time expended on it is considerably less than that given to the ordinary farm because of the speedier growth and harvesting of the crops.

Crawfordsville, Ind., Jan. 7.—Inability to provide $3,500 bond will necessitate Joseph Brown's staying in jail until Jan. 20 ,when he will be tried in the Montgomery circuit court on charges of criminal assault and contributing to delinquency. BARRED FROM FRAT HOUSE.

Contagion Halts Sigma Chis at Hanover College.

Hanover, Ind., Jan .7.—Visions of a streaming hot dinner after a long ride, which floated before the eyes of members of the Sigma Chi fraternity returning for the opening of the winter term of Hanover college vanished and instead the "frat" brothers saw tacked on the front door of their house a large red placard with a health officer's signature attached. The placard warned the Sigma Chis that one of the children of the matron had scarlet fever and the men turned sorrowfully away. The Phi Delta Thetas came to their rescue and offered them board until they could return to their own house. The Sigma Chis will room in town until danger is past.

ATTENDANCE CUT BY BAD WEATHER

der at 10:30 o'clock when Rev. Arthur J. Folsom, pastor of the Plymouth Congregational church, pronounced the invocation. The president then introduced City Attorney Harry G. Hogan, who speaking for Mayor Jesse Grice, delivered the address of welcome in behalf of the city of Fort Wayne. Mr. Hogan instructed those present that the city has opened its doors to the delegates and cordially welcomed all to consider this their home during the sessions of the convention.

Theodore F. Thieme, president of the Fort Wayne Commercial club, discussed at some length the benefits derived from affiliation with an organization such as the master painters. He discussed the vocation followed by those present and closed his address by briefly talking of the business form of municipal government, which is to be introduced during the coming session of the Indiana legislature. He also extended an invitation to the delegates to visit the Commercial club and make themselves at home within its hospitable walls.

The President's Address.

President Jones delivered a brief address, calling attention to the work of the association. He states that renewed activity is needed to make the organization what it is supposed to be, and declared that something should be done toward building up the membership.

Among other things, he called attention to the work before the present convention, and instructed those present to attend all the sessions in order to be benefited by the papers to be presented by different speakers.

He called special attention to the fact that on the last day of the convention papers are to be presented containing full details of the work done thus far in framing a bill for a law pertaining to workingmen's compensation, and it is believed that the delegates will devote considerable time to teh matter when it is once introduced.

Other things to be considered include the matter of an open and closed shop. This subject is to be discussed in all its phases before the convention adjourns, and it is likely that some definite action will be taken on the question.

Only a Few Present.

When the roll call of officers was held it was found that only one or two of the state officers were present, due to the fact that the weather is unfavorable for traveling. President Jones made announcement that he had telegrams from some of the officers, who state that they will be in Fort Wayne early tomorrow morning. Scarcely any of the regular delegates were present at the opening session, but by tomorrow noon between two and three hundred are expected from different parts of the state.

Have Big Exhibit.

The third floor of Odeon hall has been handsomely decorated by the house committee, and between thirty-five and forty firms have made arrangements to exhibit their products. Tiny and beautifully arranged booths line the walls, and beautifully colored lights add to the general effect in transforming the place into a show room.

Banquet at Elks' Temple.

Arrangements are now being perfected for the annual banquet to be served Wednesday evening at 6 o'clock at the Elks' temple on West Berry street. No program for the feast has been issued, but President Jones will preside as toastmaster. After the banquet the delegates will march in a body to the Temple theater to witness the vaudeville performance.

The reports of credentials and resolutions committees, to have been made this afternoon, will be presented at tomorrow morning's session.

Tomorrow's Program.

Tomorrow's program is as follows:

Morning.

Communications.
Report of delegate to last international convention.
Paper—"Bleeding Reds," G. W. Kevers, of Indianapolis.

Afternoon.

Paper—"Soya Bean Oil," Prof. Garner.
Paper—"Habits," Hallie Geyer, of Lafayette.

known as the "Fort Wayne Bill." This bill is being formed to prevent the sale of unsanitary bed clothing, mattresses, etc. It also provides for the labeling of bed coverings so that the buyer may be aware of what is being handed out.

Another measure for the benefit of health conditions in shops and factories will compel factory and shop owners to provide cuspidors in their places. Much disease is communicated among factory employes by careless spitting.

Dr. Hurty thinks that anti-toxin can be bought much cheaper by the state than by the individual health departments. In many of the smaller communities this preventative is purchased in small quantities and a large price is paid for it when bought in the open market. The state can buy it at wholesale prices and thereby effect a great saving. The legislature will be asked to sanction the purchase of anti-toxin by the state.

SUMMARY OF WEATHER CONDITIONS

A storm has remained nearly stationary over the Ohio valley during the last 24 hours, and has given continued heavy rains over that section. During the last two days more than two inches of rain has fallen at Evansville, Louisville and Memphis, while more than three inches fell during the last 24 hours at Nashville. Temperatures continue high from the Ohio valley eastward and southward, but over practically all sections west of the Mississippi unusually cold weather continues, with temperatures from 25 to 35 degrees below zero over portions of the Dakotas, Manitoba and Montana. Killing frosts are again reported from San Diego and Los Angeles with a temperature of 28 degrees, which is the coldest weather ever experienced at those places. In the extreme northwest the cold has begun to moderate considerably.

The Ohio valley storm will move slowly eastward, and will be followed by snow and colder weather in this section tonight, probably followed by fair weather on Wednesday. W. S. PALMER, Local Forecaster.

LINES ARE UNDAMAGED.

Telephone Wires Are Standing Bad Weather Exceedingly Well.

"Our lines are still undamaged by the rain and sleet of the last few days," said Frank E. Bohn, assistant secretary of the Home Telephone and Telegraph company, today when asked to what extent the company had been inconvenienced by the inclement weather. "Although a few lines have been cut off for a short time, we have been fortunate so far in keeping the wires upon the poles," continued Mr. Bohn. It is feared, however, that if the weather becomes colder soon and freezes the water on the wires there will be much damage connected with the breaking of the wires.

The company is at present working on the cable on Broadway from Home avenue to the Broadway bridge. The wires are being inclosed in a cable, and the work, which was commenced a month ago, will be completed within ten days.

A new farmers' line is being constructed on the Covington road west of the city. Fourteen farmers in that section will get their 'phones within a few weeks.

RETURNED TO HER MOTHER.

Hazel Smith, thirteen years old and living on Wall street, was found on the street late last night by the police and said she had come here from Chicago to visit her brother and he had failed to meet her at the train. Under examination today she said she had left home and her mother took her back and the police will make some further investigations.

Treading on Father Time's Heels—New Invention Measures Hundredths of a Second.

TIMING AN AUTOMOBILE RACE WITH THE HOROGRAPH.

A remarkable device for timing aeroplanes and automobiles has been invented by a Beloit (Wis.) man and was used with great success at the recent contests for the Gordon Bennett and Vanderbilt cups at Chicago and Milwaukee, respectively. He calls it the horograph.

The need of a device that will register very small fractions of a second becomes apparent when it is remembered that in such races the aeroplanes or automobiles are started separately and that often elapsed time between the start and finish of two machines is extremely close, making the ordinary stop watch methods of timing inadequate.

It has been found that when a half-dozen experienced observers hold stop watches each will give a different report on the time made by the same aeroplane or automobile. The brief period required to convey the impulse from the eye which saw the machine pass to the hand holding the watch is too great and varies too much, according to the temperament of the different individuals, to make such records reliable.

The horograph is operated by electricity in connection with the electro-magnets, and is almost as quick in action as the electric flash itself. It indicates the elapsed time of an aeroplane or automobile to the hundredth part of a second and prints a permanent record of this time in plain figures on a paper ribbon. It has given a printed record of the time of each of two cars traveling at a speed of eighty miles an hour when the front wheels of one car were overlapping the rear wheels of the car in front.

The horograph consists essentially of four type wheels mounted on a sensitively governed shaft driven by an electric motor. The first wheel indicates the hours, the second minutes, the third seconds and the fourth hundredths of a second. A printing hammer, operated by magnets, prints the time record on the paper ribbon.

In use, wires are stretched across the race track at start and finish and one-mile lines. These are connected with the instrument by throwing a small switch when a car is seen to be approaching. As the car crosses the wire it gives an impulse to an electric relay which causes the printing hammer to strike, giving the precise time.

MERCHANTS PLAN FOR CONVENTION

Loal Retailers Endorse Three Proposed Bills for Legislature.

FAVOR PARK SITES

The Fort Wayne Retail Merchants' association, in session Monday night at the Commercial club, made final plans for the state convention of Indiana Retailers, to be held in Fort Wayne January 21, 22 and 23, and President C. M. Mills selected delegates from the association to sit in the convention as follows: William Hahn, H. Pfeiffer, J. L. Shields, W. F. Grueter, William Dochrman, Nicholas Klug, Robert Koerber, C. M. Mills; alternates, W. H. Myers, Charles Niebergall, E. J. Golden, Chris Hagerfeld, L. E. Heiny, Mr. Schroeder, M. J. Marttene and George Herman. The reception committee is composed of the following: M. Dukes, I. M. Hallenstein, George M. Haffner, W. C. Schwier, George J. Parrott, Nate Beadell, L. J. Libbing, C. E. Moellering, E. J. Golden, George Herman, H. C. Rose and William Kayser.

The association endorsed the program prepared by the entertainment committee and it was definitely decided to hold a theater party at the Temple on the evening of the first day of the convention, and 300 seats are to be reserved. An invitation has been issued to all merchants of the city, whether or not they are members of the association, to attend the sessions of the convention.

Copies of letters sent out by State President H. H. Highlands and State Secretary Thomas Palfrey, to every local association in the state, were read. The state officers predict one of the largest and most successful conventions ever held, and they call attention to Fort Wayne's past reputation as entertainer.

Terre Haute Writes.

In a letter to the local association, the secretary of the Terre Haute association states that he will send ten delegates. It is understood that Terre Haute will offer a bid for the next state convention.

The organization went on record in favor of purchasing the proposed site for the east side park, and for the purchase of all other property considered convenient for parking purposes.

At the next meeting the association will discuss the matter of admitting wholesalers to associate membership. The Seelberg store was admitted as a member of the retailers' association.

Proposed Legislation.

Fred Frohmuth of Muncie, state president of the Indiana Business Men's association, attended the meeting and discussed some important matters of legislation to be introduced during the coming session. Three proposed bills were endorsed by the association and the members signed a petition which will be presented to Senator S. B. Fleming and Representatives Moran, Koenig and Moellering.

One of the bills is to bring about the establishment of a lenient garnishee law, serving as a protection to merchants against customers who refuse to pay. Another bill is entitled, "An act to control the issue and redemption of trading stamps and other devices." The third bill endorsed would make it a misdemeanor for any person or corporation to issue misleading advertisements for the purpose of defrauding customers.

SHARP IS AGAIN MADE PRESIDENT

The Lakeside Improvement Body Elects Officers for Year.

PLAN FURTHER WORK

Members of the Lakeside Civic Improvement association met Monday night at the Lakeside school, and re-elected Lewis P. Sharp as president of the organization to serve during the coming year. Other officers were elected as follows: Vice president, Henry Bullerman; Secretary, Fred Goeglin; treasurer, Neil McKay.

LEWIS P. SHARP.

Improvements made during the past year were discussed at some length, and it was shown that members of the association have been very successful in their work. In discussing the improvements occasioned by the construction of the Tennessee avenue bridge, it was agreed that the piling could be removed sooner by the association itself than by waiting for the work to be done by the county commissioners.

No definite action was taken in the matter of installing a pump in the pumping house on the east side of Delta lake. A pump is desired to assist in carrying off the water that the sewer fails to remove. It is said that the present pump is inadequate for the work.

Owing to the fact that but one member of the committee to report matters concerning the Coombs stree bridge was present, the report was postponed until the next meeting. Members of this committee are Attorney H. C. Underwood, Ex-Prosecutor A. E. Thomas and Homer I. Smith.
